At times the constitutional convention seemed more bent on self-destruction than constitutional reform.

Top Of The Morning

THE WEATHER

Cloudy skies and snow flurries are expected today with very little temperature change. Today's high temperature reading will be near 32 with the overnight low about 18. The outlook for Wednesday indicates colder temperatures and more snow flurries. The extended forecast for Thursday through Monday calls for temperatures to average below normal with day time high readings in the middle 20's to low 30's. The overnight low readings for the period will be mostly in the teens. Snow is expected on Thursday and Friday and again the first of the week. Winds today will be toward the southwest 10 to 20 mph. Tuesday's 7 a.m. report; high 33; low 18; there was no precipitation recorded. The river level was 2.4 feet and falling.

KINZUA DAM REPORT

Pool level 1277.60 feet. Downstream temperature 34 degrees. The reading at the Warren gauge 2.39 feet.

WARREN COUNTY

LBJ Visits Dallas for 1st Time Since Kennedy Assassination

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson passed within sight of the Kennedy Assassination scene Tuesday in a whirlwind trip to tell a convention group that America will show "no weakening of the will" in Vietnam.

The Dallas trip marked Johnson's first visit to Dallas since an assassin's bullet cut down President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963. At that time, Johnson was riding in an automobile two cars back from Kennedy's in the fateful motorcade past the Texas Schoolbook Depository.

Air Force One arrived back in Austin at 1:17 p.m. CST Tuesday to end the surprise trip.

The President's car Tuesday went within sight of the memorial marking the assassination and made two trips past Parkland Hospital, where Kennedy was pronounced dead.

Johnson landed, amidst tight security, at Dallas Love Field where he took the oath as President within hours of the assassination.

Johnson's 117-minute trip took him to the Dallas Memorial Auditorium where he addressed the 10,000 delegates to the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association's convention.

He drew a round of applause with a remark that city dwellers and their rural counterparts must cooperate to build a "shining and peaceful land."

But most of the lectern-thumping speech was devoted to the subject of Vietnam. He said the enemy in Vietnam has so far failed in the mammoth Tet offensive and has suffered terrible casualties because "thousands of our courageous sons and millions of brave Vietnamese have answered oppression's onslaught with one strong and united voice."

There will be "no retreat from responsibility," Johnson said, declaring that the Vietnam war is now at a turning point.

"The enemy of freedom has chosen to make this year the decisive one. He is striking out in a desperate and vicious effort to shape the final outcome. So far he has failed in his major objectives, he has failed at terrible cost to himself and tragic cost to his civilian victims."

Johnson was specific in saying there would be no "failing of our fighting sons. No betrayal of those who fight beside us. No breaking of trusted commitments. No weakening of will that would encourage the enemy and prolong the bloody conflict."

To a roar of applause, Johnson spoke in glowing terms of America's future "if we only have the vision and the determination and the will to stick to it

C of C Wants to Host State Annual Meeting

The Warren County Chamber of Commerce authorized a bid Monday night to host the 1969 annual meeting of Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce Executives the latter part of June, as well as accept the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau as a chamber affiliate.

Other business on the agenda included authorization to pursue means of locating a Holiday Inn in the Warren area. Support was given to working with the promotion of the Route 6 Association and the group approved a proposal to co-sponsor a reception for the new forest supervisors during the week of March 10.

A proposal to remodel the present quarters was turned over to a committee consisting of Rockwell O'Sheill, John Haggerty, Jake Levinson, Phil Liveley and Robert Porter who were requested to investigate the various possibilities of improving the appearance of the office and report back to the board at the next meeting.

The remaining sections of the by-laws under study by the Accreditation and Executive Committee was approved.

The board approved the appointment of 10 standing committee chairmen for 1968. The new chairmen are Clifford Johnson, transportation; Karl Peterson, accreditation; Bert Levinson, sales promotion; Curtis Sasserson, education; Russ Hanson, OEO representative; Daniel Morse, industrial affairs; Rockwell O'Sheill, budget; James Blomquist, membership; Jacob Levinson, program work; and John Haggerty, orientation. It was announced other committees would be formed after a new program is adopted by the board of directors.

Two new members, Warren General Hospital and Penn Restaurant, were also accepted at Monday's meeting held at the Mineral Well Restaurant.

Teachers Outline Plans For March 4 'Holiday'

The special action committee of the Warren County Education Association has finalized plans for joining teachers throughout the state in "Action for Education Day" March 4 as outlined by the Pennsylvania State Education Association. The program will be as follows:

Well over 120 educators and friends of education will travel to Harrisburg to participate in "Action Day" ceremonies at the Capitol. Included in these ceremonies at the Capitol steps will be an address by Governor Raymond P. Shafer.

Two seminar sessions are scheduled for those who choose to remain in the district. The first session is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Monday. The topic for this session will be "Educators and Political Activity," with some time to be given to "The Mechanics of Sanctions." This program will be presented by a panel comprised of members who acted as delegates to the last two state conventions.

The afternoon seminar will meet at 1:30 to discuss "School Finance." The chief speaker for the afternoon session will be Dr. Thomas K. Barratt, superintendent of Warren County schools. All interested citizens are invited to attend the afternoon session.

All sessions of the seminars will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 219 Second Avenue, Warren, Pennsylvania.

Viet Cong Shell Bien Hoa Airbase; Red Drive Feared

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong gun squads shelled the big Bien Hoa airbase and other military targets around Saigon before dawn Wednesday. The attacks and reports of large enemy troop units in the area lent support to fears of another Red drive on South Vietnam's capital.

Fourteen persons were killed and 25 wounded when about 40 rounds of 122mm rockets slammed into the allied base at Bien Hoa, 15 miles north of Saigon, South Vietnamese officers said.

The Vietnamese said 25 rounds of 82mm mortars hit a government army unit nearby, wounding one soldier. In a third attack at Bien Hoa, government sources said, Red shells hit the headquarters of an American Special Forces—Green Beret—unit.

One of the Communists' favorite targets, Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base, received two rocket rounds during the night. No casualties were reported and damage was described as negligible.

American infantrymen fought Viet Cong in the Mekong Delta 80 miles southwest of Saigon on Tuesday while announcement that Communist armored vehicles had been intercepted closer to the city contributed to the capital's jitters.

Amid rumors that Saigon was in for a second wave of the Communist offensive, planes and helicopters crisscrossed the sky over the city in the night and flares lighted the outskirts.

South Vietnamese headquarters said three Communist tanks and a half-tracked armored personnel carrier had been spotted near the Cambodian frontier 50 miles northwest of the city in the deepest such armored penetration of the war.

A company of about 100 U.S.-advised Special Forces irregulars was reported to have blown up one of the vehicles with anti-tank rockets, killing 30 of the enemy in the explosion.

The U.S. Command listed the group not as tanks and a personnel carrier, but as "armored vehicles of an unspecified type" pending further information from the field. Previously the presence of enemy tanks in the country had been confirmed only in the northwest near the U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh.

American authorities said the vehicles were accompanied by an enemy detachment estimated at battalion strength, about 400 men. These were reported to have headed west, presumably into Cambodia, after a two-hour fight. Neither U.S. nor South Vietnamese spokesmen had any word that the armored vehicles opened fire.

The delta fighting flared Monday near Can Tho, a provincial capital.

Meeting of Communists Gets Off to Rocky Start

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — A meeting of 66 Communist parties got off to a rocky start Tuesday. The Soviet Union and Romania were widely split over how and when to hold a world conference meant by Moscow to restore Soviet-led unity to the Red movement.

Soviet ideologist Mikhail A. Suslov was said to have told the delegates in closed session that a world Communist conference should be held in November. He was supported by Gus Hall of the United States.

Paul Niculescu-Mizil of Romania argued that the conference should not be held unless all parties agreed to attend. That, in effect, would delay the conference indefinitely.

Romania also contended that any world Communist conference should be confined to "definite tasks of the fight against imperialism." The Soviet Union has pressed for a more general conference to endorse its position in the dispute with Red China.

na over interpretations of Marxist-Leninist principles.

The dispute erupted on the second day of the consultative meeting inspired by the Russians. The first day was devoted to formalities.

The Romanians, fence-sitters in the Moscow-Peking dispute, came to Budapest only after being assured that pro-Soviet parties would not use the meeting as a forum to condemn Red China.

Romania's desire to avoid any step that might antagonize China was stated in an editorial in the Romanian Communist party newspaper Scinteia in Bucharest. Romanian sources here made sure foreign newsmen knew of it.

The Chinese, and 14 other parties stayed away from Budapest. China has rejected the idea of a world Communist conference as part of Soviet efforts to harden the differences between the Moscow and Peking factions.

Cuban Ship Rams Boat Off Coast of Virginia

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — A Cuban ship lowered three men in a lifeboat off the coast of Virginia Tuesday, rammed the boat, then radioed it had recovered the boat and the men and was leaving the area, the Coast Guard reported.

The Coast Guard said it did not know whether the men were alive or who they were. The episode occurred in international waters.

The ramming incident was reported to have been observed by members of the crew of the United States cutter Point Brown from a distance of five miles. The Point Brown subsequently sped to the scene and searched for survivors, aided by naval aircraft, the Coast Guard said.

The Cuban vessel was identified as the 292-foot 26 de Julio. A Coast Guard journalist, Dwayne Tarsi, said a report the ship fired on the lifeboat after ramming it had not been confirmed. He said the Point Brown reported it heard "what could have been gunfire."

The site of the episode is eight miles east-northeast of Cape Henry, five miles beyond the three-mile territorial limit claimed by the United States.

Here is what happened, according to Coast Guard spokesmen: The 26 de Julio radioed the Coast Guard at 2 a.m. it was proceeding toward Norfolk, Va., with 21 persons aboard, including an unspecified number seeking political asylum.

The cutter Point Brown, commanded by Master Chief Boatswain's Mate Paul Cavanaugh, was dispatched to rendezvous with the 26 de Julio at the three-mile limit.

Crewmen of the Point Brown, while proceeding toward the rendezvous, observed the 26 de Julio lower a lifeboat containing three men, then get under way and ram the boat. Two of the occupants were thrown into the water and the third clung to the boat, which was swamped but remained afloat.

Subsequently the sound of "what could have been gunfire" was heard and the 26 de Julio "turned about and made another pass" at the lifeboat. After the second pass the three men could no longer be seen.

LSD Penalties Aimed At Traffickers in Drug

WASHINGTON (AP) — An assurance by Commissioner of Narcotics Henry H. Giordano that proposed penalties for possession of LSD would be aimed at pushers, rather than experimenting students, cleared the way Tuesday for early action on the proposal to curb dangerous drugs.

"As far as I am concerned," Giordano told a House Commerce subcommittee, "these penalties are not aimed at putting young people in jail. They are aimed at the trafficker."

Giordano noted that the federal penalty for possession of marijuana is now two to 10 years in prison and said, "I have yet to know of any high school or college student that was involved with one marijuana cigarette that was prosecuted under federal law."

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., who has termed the administration proposal to make possession of LSD a misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in prison "absolutely unenforceable," said he supported the measure and agreed with Giordano on the need to concentrate on pushers and traffickers. The acting subcommittee chairman, Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., said "I'm glad to know he (Carter) is for a penalty for possession."

"Only for a certain purpose," Carter said. Rogers replied: "The only purpose I want is to stop the sale and purchase of LSD."

Carter had been the only subcommittee member who questioned the proposed penalty for possession, and all members favor the rest of the bill, which would strengthen existing penalties covering the sale, manufacture, distribution and possession for sale or distribution of hallucinogens, depressants and stimulants.

Giordano testified that the absence of a federal law against possession of LSD is one reason for increased use of marijuana. "Since it is widely known that LSD is more potent, and more dangerous than the type of marijuana which is usually available," he said, "the more stringent laws which control marijuana have been made to appear hypocritical."

Officials Don't Believe Campus Narcotics Report

HARRISBURG (AP) — Officials of the University of Pennsylvania told a Senate committee here Tuesday that they did not put much stock in a campus survey indicating that a third of the student body had experimented with the use of drugs. "I have a suspicion about everything I read in the Daily Pennsylvanian," said Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, university president, when asked to comment on the survey conducted by the student newspaper. Harnwell and other top members of the university staff appeared before the Senate Appropriations Committee to justify the university's request for a total of $11.8 million for next year. The newspaper said that of 663 students surveyed — exactly 10 per cent of the under-graduate enrollment — 37 per cent replied they had used or were now using some sort of drug classified by law as narcotic.

Harnwell said he had "little confidence" in the figures and added there was no evidence of large-scale use of narcotics on the Penn campus. He suggested that many students had replied to the questionnaire facetiously. Dr. Luther Terry, former U. S. surgeon general and now Penn vice president for medical affairs, said the newspaper figures could be accurate but misleading. He noted that any student who had one puff on a marijuana cigarette or taken an amphetamine (stimulant) would have made an affirmative reply to the questionnaire. Dr. Samuel Gurin, dean of the university's medical school, was asked to comment on a portion of the survey showing that 62 per cent of the students questioned favored legalizing marijuana. "I think the whole thing is absurd," Gurin replied. "The replies were in my opinion juvenile."

Kenmore Firm Wins Contract

JAMESTOWN — The Jamestown Board of Public Utilities Tuesday afternoon awarded a contract for the last of four construction projects for their water expansion program. W. W. Timmons and Sons of Kenmore, New York, submitted the lowest of four bids. The bid of the Kenmore firm of $336,000 includes the construction of pumping facilities and a 500,000 gallon steel storage tank on Clay Pond road east of the village of Falconer. Bids for the final phase of the water expansion program were opened one week ago, but no contract was awarded until the BPU's consulting engineers had an opportunity to review all bids. Yesterday's meeting was a specially called meeting. The board accepted some alternatives which brought the price tag of the fourth phase of the project down some $10,000 to $326,408. BPU chairman William A. Taylor noted the Erie County firm already has a contract for the installation of 17,000 feet of 24-inch transmission line between the English Hill reservoir and the proposed pumping station. Taylor said if all goes well, the completed project will become operative in the early part of the fall.

Adlai III Loses Bid For Office

CHICAGO (AP) — The hierarchy of the Illinois Democratic party announced its 1968 election lineup Tuesday but the party's No. 1 scorer, Adlai E. Stevenson III, was left on the sidelines.

William G. Clark, 43, the state's attorney general, received the organization's endorsement for the June 11 primary to challenge Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, 72, in the November election.

Lt. Gen. Samuel H. Shapiro, 60, was the slatemakers' choice to run for governor. Gov. Otto Kerner is not trying for a third term and is expected to get a federal bench appointment.

As the slatemakers filed out of the meeting room, concluding five days of screening candidates, a Chicago committee member said "Stevenson dropped himself. We believe in the principles of the Democratic party and whoever doesn't should get out."

Stevenson, 37, the party's leading vote-getter in a 1964 at-large election for the legislature and again in 1966 when he won the state treasurer's post, startled the committee by refusing to promise in advance complete support of the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy.

Clark told newsmen after the endorsements: "Of course I support the President's position on Vietnam. No one has done more to bring about peace than he has."

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, who headed the powerful subcommittee, told newsmen that the committee's not slating Stevenson does not mean the son of the late two-time nominee for president is politically dead.

Shafer Asks Statewide Cost-Cutting Program

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer asked Tuesday night that administrators of agencies and institutions spending state money join in a statewide cost-cutting program to save millions of dollars.

Shafer spoke to some 2,000 persons in a live telecast beamed from his office to seven regional meetings on economy and efficiency in government. The audience included officials of local schools, hospitals, state-owned and related colleges and other institutions.

Airport Traffic Up

Allegheny Airlines served 5,432 passengers during January at Bradford Regional Airport, up 5 per cent from the January 1967 total of 5,178, John Kiehl, customer service manager, announced today. Boardings of air mail, freight and express here showed increases, rising from 112,202 pounds during January 1967 to 121,473 pounds last month.

Musician Dies

Arthur R. Goranson, 78, of Jamestown, N.Y., the community's "Mr. Music Man," died at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, February 27 at WCA Hospital where he had been a patient in the intensive care unit for 11 days. For 60 years his name has been synonymous with church and school music.

LBJ Runs into Opposition On Crop Control Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress Tuesday to make permanent this year his administration's multibillion dollar crop control program, but he immediately ran into a strong and influential "no" on Capitol Hill.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee, told newsmen there is "not a chance" that Congress will act on the legislation this session. Headed that Congress would never make it permanent. Johnson, in an election year farm message decrying farmers' lagging income, declared that failure to extend this program would bring "catastrophe and ruin" to many farmers. The program, enacted in 1965, is now scheduled to expire in 1968.

Under this program, which Johnson described as the backbone of present federal farm aid measures, the government has been making payments running upwards of $3 billion a year to farmers for idling land not needed to produce wheat, feed grains and cotton. Ellender said this and most other farm legislative proposals — with the major exception of foreign food aid measures — will be taken up in the 1969 session.

The President made several other recommendations for farm and rural areas which had been anticipated by congressmen and farm leaders. Significantly, most of them had been declared as essential to a stable agriculture by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in recent farm area political speeches saying that only a Democratic president and a Democratic Congress would provide the measures.

Most of Johnson's major farm proposals are highly controversial not only among lawmakers but among farmers and their leaders. Several may become major issues in November.

One proposal includes recommendations for a three-year extension of the Food for Freedom program under which this country makes food and technical assistance available to needy countries which take steps to increase their own food output. Hearings on such legislation, which has encountered little opposition, already have been scheduled by congressional agriculture committees.

Another proposal includes legislation to create a reserve supply of wheat, feed grains and soybeans — tagged in the presidential message as a "national food bank" — to protect the nation against possible emergencies, such as war and short crops. This proposal was made by the administration last year, but Congress did not act.

The President, in urging permanent crop control authority, said over the years, which has plagued agriculture since the late 1920s, remains a problem in efforts to improve farm income. Johnson took cognizance of growing farmer discussion of ways and means of giving producers greater authority to bargain for fair prices, much as labor bargains for wage rates. But sharp differences have developed over what role, if any, the government should play.

The President recommended that congressional committees hold hearings on the matter. He said that upon conclusion of such hearings he would make specific recommendations on bargaining legislation.

IBM Executive Named In Tonkin Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientist, identified by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara as "not part of the intelligence organization" during the 1964 Tonkin Gulf incidents, had charge of the Defense Department's supersecret National Security Agency at that time. The scientist is Dr. Eugene G. Fubini, now a vice president of International Business Machines, Armonk, N.Y. He lives in New Canaan, Conn.

"He probably knows more about what was going on in our electronic surveillance of North Vietnam then (in 1964) than any other man in Washington," a reliable source said Tuesday.

However, a source connected with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said there are no plans now to call Fubini or any other witnesses lest the committee's "inquiry" become an "investigation" of the Tonkin Gulf incidents.

Dr. Fubini's office said he is on vacation in Europe and could not be reached for comment. During last week's Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings on the Tonkin Gulf incidents, McNamara was asked by the chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark: "I have been told there was a very responsible scientist who was well informed about and working in defense intelligence by the name of Fubini. Do you know such a man?" McNamara: "I do indeed, although I don't think he was working in defense intelligence."

Fulbright: "Well, do you trust him? Is he a trustworthy man?" McNamara: "He is a very able individual in his field, which is electrical engineering and associated subjects."

Fulbright: "Assuming he did have knowledge of this matter, do you have any objection to our calling him?" McNamara: "No, I have no objection to his being called. He is a private individual now not working for the Defense Department. Let me say this, I am certain he didn't have full and complete knowledge of this incident."

Fulbright: "Well, he may have had some knowledge." McNamara: "He had at that time, he would have been deputy director of research and engineering. He was not a part of the intelligence organization."

The National Security Agency, a sub-agency of the Defense Department, is governed by the deputy director of defense research and engineering. The NSA's assignments include responsibility for electronic spying, code-breaking and cryptanalysis.

Two destroyers—the Maddox and the C. Turner Joy—were engaged in a wraithlike nighttime engagement with North Vietnamese boats in the Tonkin Gulf on Aug. 4, 1964. The incident presaged retaliation against the boats' bases by U.S. bombers, and resulted in Congress passing the Gulf of Tonkin resolution empowering President Johnson to "take all necessary measures" to repel further aggression. From this point the U.S. fighting in Vietnam escalated.

Woman's Frozen Body Is Found

INDIANA, Pa. (AP) — Three men, one out looking for a house, stumbled across the frozen body of a woman sprawled in the kitchen of her backwoods home Tuesday. Police said she may have been murdered.

"Ever had a Newspaper Route?"

When a young man applies for a job he really wants—a job with "a future"—he is very apt to be asked, "Have you ever had a newspaper route?" His answer to that question may well decide whether or not he'll get the job.

Why? Because more and more employers are realizing that former newspaperboys already have a solid business background.

They've bought newspapers at wholesale—sold them at retail—and operated a business of their own. They've already learned that the only way to conduct a successful business is to give service... to keep present customers satisfied... and to get new customers.

Many of today's executives were yesterday's newspaperboys. They know that a newspaper route is the one part-time job open to a Young American that teaches initiative, the value of money and the importance of getting along with people.

Yes sir... there's no doubt about it. For jobs with "a future", employers prefer former newspaperboys.

If you have a son that you think might be interested in a newspaper route, why not write or phone us.

Pittsfield Firm Wins $3,581.09 in Jury Trial

A civil jury Tuesday found in favor of the plaintiff, Pittsfield Construction Company, in the amount of $3,581.09 in a complaint of assumption.

The defendant was Fred C. Dinardo & Sons, Inc., of Pittsburgh, who contracted with the U.S. Corps of Engineers for work at Roper Hollow boat launching area.

Lawmaker Says White House Aides Spur Applause

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George A. Goodling, R-Pa., said Tuesday he has yet to receive a reply to his inquiry of four weeks ago regarding reports that White House employees were used to spur applause for President Johnson's State of the Union message last month.

Goodling released the text of a second letter to Marvin Watson Jr., the president's appointments secretary.

He cited published reports which said White House aides were placed in the House chamber for the message and instructed to encourage frequent and prolonged applause.

In his previous letter, dated Jan. 31, Goodling requested either an explanation of a denial or the reports.

"Perchance, in the hustle and bustle of your White House duties, my letter has been mislaid," Goodling said Tuesday.

"Or maybe you have been so consumed with your responsibilities...that you have not had an opportunity to respond."

He added: "It might be, too, that the letter never arrived at your desk, for I understand that some things have a way of getting lost in the mails these days."

Dirksen Tries to Rescue Besieged Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's Everett McKinley Dirksen riding again in the fanfare of trumpets, his curly locks askew in the political winds, to rescue a besieged civil rights bill from annihilation.

For weeks it has been accepted around the Senate that there would be no relief of the garri- son of liberal civil rights sup- porters trapped by a filibuster unless Dirksen mounted a counter assault.

Dirksen, the Senate Republi- can leader, marshaled the mar- gin of votes needed for the nec- essary two-thirds to break filibusters in 1964 and 1965.

But in 1966 he opposed federal enforcement of open housing as a "matter of principle." Since he said then he couldn't compro- mise on principle, there was no bill.

In the current controversy, he has sat with folded hands while the Senate twice rejected filibuster-busting cloture resolu- tions, once by seven votes and once by six votes less than the required two-thirds margin.

He told a news conference last week he is opposed to federal enforcement of open housing be- cause he says this should be a state matter. Previously he had said that provisions of the House-approved bill for federal protection of Negroes should not be limited to them but extended to all citizens.

But time and circumstances seem to have arrived for a bit of

Radioactive Discharge Said Excessive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission was asked Tuesday to investigate allegations that radioac- tive discharge from an atomic waste treatment plant in West- ern New York is 36,000 times in excess of permissible amounts.

Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D.N.Y., who requested the in- vestigation, said the charges were made by the Rochester (N.Y.) Committee for Scientific Information. He said the plant involved is that of Nuclear Fuel Services, West Valley, N.Y.

McCarthy said the committee took samples of materials dis- charged from the plant through a pipe and reported a high con- centration of Strontium 90, a radioactive substance that tends to settle in the bones when it is in food consumed by humans.

He said the effluent enters Buttermilk Creek—a stream on the plant's grounds—which flows into Cattaraugus Creek. The latter, he said, runs through dairy farming land southeast of Buffalo.

McCarthy, in a letter to the AEC, said a co-author of the report, Dr. George C. Berg of the University of Rochester, found that material from the pipe had 36,000 times as much Strontium 90 as it should and that material from Buttermilk Creek had 2,300 times as much.

The congressman also report- ed samples taken from Cat- taraugus Creek by the New York State Department of Health had not shown any ex- cess of Strontium 90.

there was a question as to which party was responsible for payment to Pittsfield Construc- tion Company (Ernest McGraw) since in the opinion of Curtis L. Sorensen, Dinardo & Sons had, according to the former's testimony agreed to pay Pitts- field Construction Co. the full amount due.

Michael Dinardo, however, testified that his father's com- pany had guaranteed payment of some $200 to McGraw for over- time necessary to maintain the penalty clause imposed by the federal government as to pro- gress and final completion date, but not the full amount as stat- ed.

Michael Dinardo testified Mc- Graw refused payment of the over- time pay offer, stating he, McGraw wanted all or nothing. Michael Dinardo told the court he was testifying on behalf of his father, Fred, president of the company because the lat- ter was still hospitalized fol- lowing surgery and could not be present in court.

Events surrounding the Roper Hollow recreation project are apparently still unresolved fol- lowing Tuesday's jury decision. Fred Dinardo & Sons, Inc. of Pittsburgh will file suit against Curtis L. and Dennis C. Soren- sen, general contractors, War- ren and Webster Plumbing and Heating, since there was an al- leged breach of contract involv- ed in the general proceedings.

Robert Wolfe represented the plaintiff in Tuesday's action and R. Pierson Eaton, the de- fendants.

The jury convened at 2:58 p.m. with Robert L. Hansen named jury foreman. The verdict, on behalf of the plaintiff, was made known prior to 5 p.m., court house closing time.

bending of principle on Dirk- sen's part. He said Tuesday he hopes to have a compromise bill ready for the Senate Wednes- day.

If it is acceptable to the liber- als, he said he would solicit his GOP colleagues for cloture votes that would insure its pas- sage.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Dirksen holds the key to pas- sage of a bill.

Dirksen has been hearing from Illinois, where he is a can- didate for re-election at the age of 72. He was particularly irked at a Chicago Daily News editor- ial he said carried the caption, "Dirksen slams the door on civil rights."

"I've been agonizing and sweating for weeks to get this (bill) out of the fire," he said. He added that all kinds of pres- sures were being put on him.

"If Lyndon Johnson thinks he has trouble with Ho Chi Minh, he ought to come up here," he said.

Some of the pressure on Dirksen has been exerted by younger Republicans, including his son-in-law, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee. Baker voted against cloture on Mon- day's test. Otherwise those who went along with Dirksen then were old-line Republicans.

The more liberal Republicans have been telling their leader that any defeat of the civil rights bill that could be laid at his door would not help their party's image in the presiden- tial election.

They contend that nothing which might be said in the plat- form to be drafted under his di- rection at the Miami, Fla., convention would offset for Ne- gro voters Republican failure to provide the votes for passage of a bill.

Three New York Youths Apprehended

An investigation by Sheriff D. E. Allen Jr. and Chief Deputy sheriff Richard E. Hegerty has led to the apprehension of three juvenile youths from Busti, N. Y., in connection with bur- glaries at Sugar Grove Farm Supply Co. in March, 1966 and September and November of 1967.

The youths, two age 17 and the third, 15, admitted the breakins in which ammunition, watches, cash and a miscellaneous as- sortment of merchandise valued at $200 was taken.

Allen said the juveniles ad- mitted they were responsible and that a number of boxes of shot gun shells and other items were recovered.

During the investigation, ac- cording to the sheriff, the 15- year-old admitted a burglary at the Keystone Station in Sugar Grove during March of 1966.

County officers were aided by Lakewood, N.Y. police in the Busti area.

AL Commander Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Clyde E. Rankin, 67, state commander of the American Le- gion in 1964-67 died at his home here Monday.

PRE-LENTEN CARNIVAL

As far up Canal st. in New Orleans as can be seen, crowds mill in the street and reach up for trinkets and coins being thrown from floats in the parade of the Krewe of Venus, an all women's group, one of three downtown day-light parades preceding the annual Mardi Gras Tuesday night.

Mardi Gras in New Orleans Is A Day of Hysteria

(Editor's Note: This account of Mardi Gras was written by an AP staffer who rode Tues- day through downtown New Or- leans as a masker in the Rex Pa- rade, the most famous and spec- tacular of the gaudy processions that wind through the city on the "day of madness."

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Be- adored with blown kisses, be- shamed by pleas and tears. Be the most desired man in all New Orleans on Mardi Gras — if for only the passing instant.

Climb aboard a float in the gi- gantic parade of Rex, the Mon- arch of Misrule. Take a ride of a lifetime, a bouncing, clowning trip through hysteria. You'll never be the same.

Half a million hands reach up to you begging. Twice that many eyes stare at you longingly. You've got something every- body wants. It's a plastic bauble, worth exactly two cents, that even a child won't value to- morrow.

But for this one day, that taw- dry trinket is more precious than blood.

"Throw me something, mis- ter!" you hear on a thousand lips. "Throw me a doubloon, mister!" you hear from greedier ones.

The Krewe of Rex began minting aluminum and gilded coins a decade ago, and now one which costs five cents to make may be worth several dollars. New Orleanians know this, and the citizens are banking on those thrown today being worth big money in another few years.

Your fellow maskers on the towering float throw 342,000 doubloons before the parade is over, and with every other krewe minting the coins now, it's not likely they'll ever be quite as valuable as those tossed the first year.

The crowd is 20 deep in some places, 35-deep in others, pressed so close that some chil- dren are crying from excite- ment or fear. The noise of the crowd is deafening and contin- uous.

As your float pushes slowly down the middle of St. Charles Avenue, you scoop handful after handful of beads, whistles, plas- tic geese and doubloons out of

Clarendon Fire Causes $200 Damage

A fire which broke out in the bathroom of a home owned by Dale Haines, 19 High st., Clar- endon, Tuesday caused an es- timated $200 damage according to Clarendon Fire Chief Leonard Falbriski.

The fire, caused by an over- heated gas stove, broke out at approximately 12:40 p.m., Fal- briski stated. Clarendon Vol- unteer Fire Dept. answered the alarm with two trucks and 15 men. Clarendon was assisted at the scene by a pumper truck from the Sheffield Volunteer Fire Dept.

Hose was laid from a near- by hydrant, Falbriski reported, and the fire was brought under control without difficulty.

No one was injured in the blaze, according to Falbriski. Firemen were on the scene approximately an hour and 15 minutes.

Property Damage

Property damage was esti- mated at $700 in a one-car traffic accident which occurred at 1:45 p. m. Monday on Route 62, one mile north of Warren. State police trooper Paul W. Brown of the Warren substa- tion said a car driven by Dennis C. Baxter, 22, of 208 Parker st., Warren, was forced off the road by another car and hit a steel fence on Warren State Hos- pital property.

Baxter escaped injury, police said.

your tote sack and shower it down among the mob.

The parade of Rex, the most eagerly awaited spectacle on Mardi Gras, assembles at 8 a.m. when you put on your cos- tume along with 240 of the most influential men in New Orleans.

There are 26 floats in all. None of the doctors, lawyers, stockbrokers and civic leaders can explain why they do this ev- ery year, buying costumes and spending an estimated $150 out of their own pockets just to throw away on baubles.

"You've got to have done it since you were knee high," says a university official dressed as a Napoleonic soldier. "You can't start as an adult and un- derstand all the excitement in doing this. It's got to be in- grained in your childish con- sciousness."

The lawyer on your right and the physician on your left atop the float have two bits of ad- vice:

"Don't drink much hooch, you'll be up here five hours and there's no restroom on this float. And conserve your throws, you don't want to run out before we get to Canal Street, that's where the big crowds are."

Sure enough, when the float turns onto Canal, you've got only 10 strings of beads left. The people are like ants on jam.

You throw the last of your beads. The only thing you can do now is throw kisses and wave. That frustrates the thou- sands who have waved and tossed kisses at you with such fervor.

"Don't kiss me, mister, throw me something," they yell. It's over at last. You and your fellow maskers have thrown away trinkets which have cost Rex Krewe members an es- timated $36,000.

You go home empty-handed, the only man in Mardi Gras without a trinket.

Michael Spinney On Dean's List

Cadet George Michael Spin- ney, son of Col. and Mrs. Lewis C. Spinney, of New Cumberland Army Depot, Harrisburg, has been named to the Dean's list at the U.S. Military Academy for the first semester of the current year.

Cadet Spinney, a Third class- man (sophomore) at the Aca- demy, received the honor after finishing among the top students in his class.

He is a 1966 graduate of War- ren Area High School and ex- pects to be graduated from West Point in June, 1970 with a Bachelor of Science degree and a commission as a Second Lieut- enant in the U.S. Army.

His father presently serves as deputy Commanding Officer of New Cumberland Army Depot.

Scott Welcomes Deferments For Junior College Students

TMO Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON — Sen. Hugh Scott said Tuesday that he was elated that Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the selec- tive service system, has ad- vised more than 4,000 draft boards to grant deferments to students at two-year colleges and vocational schools.

Thirty days ago, Scott wrote a letter to Hershey urging the selective service system to re- scind the regulation which denies draft deferments to stu- dents enrolled full-time in com- munity and junior colleges so that all other graduate students in the future be treated equally.

"I believe," Scott said in his letter to Hershey, "that it is discriminatory to deny defer- ment to those students whose economic or academic backgrounds often make it difficult for them to enroll in regular four-year baccalaureate pro- grams, but also nevertheless have the ambition and the desire to advance their education and skills."

Less than two weeks ago, Scott received a letter from Gen. Hershey, saying his request for occupational deferment for two- year technical and vocational students had now been placed under serious consideration.

The Hershey decision an- nounced Tuesday means that draft boards may defer those pursuing a "full-time course of study that will not lead to a Bachelor's degree."

Students who transfer from one school to another, whether a two-year or four-year school, may qualify as long as they continue to make normal pro- gress.

West Penn Oil Co.

Plans Addition

West Penn Oil Co. at North Warren is planning a new ad- dition to its present plant. The proposed building will be 400 feet by 80 feet and will provide 35,000 feet for additional stor- age, according to Ernest C. Miller, president.

The minimum height of the new building will be 16 feet. West Penn will also add more tanks for bulk storage to the rear of the building.

Miller said the project would expedite handling and deliver- ing packaged products.

Kinzua Construction Co. are the job contractors.

Poverty and Riots

Poverty is often given as the reason for much of the violence in our cities, and government leaders recommend spending billions of tax dollars to provide jobs. This supposed connection between poverty and riots is seldom questioned, but Evangelist Billy Graham flatly rejects the claim that poverty is the cause of present civil disturbances. He points out, "there was no such rioting, looting or killing of police officers in depression days when people were much poorer."

To many, there is far more involved in the present breakdown of law and order than just the restlessness born of poverty. Respect for law lies in the character of our people rather than in their affluence. A law-abiding society is built on character, and character cannot be created or bought.

New Yorkers Take It

NEW YORK — The inhabitants of New York City are undoubtedly the most tolerant citizens of the Western world. If there is any physical discomfort, human inconvenience or affront to the dignity of man that they will refuse to put up with, it has yet to be devised.

Everybody knows about the New York phenomenon called "the strike of the week," in which the unions take turns at stopping some vital service. The odd thing is not that these strikes occur but that New Yorkers accept the resultant inconveniences passively as an inevitable burden of the human condition.

When Mayor Lindsay proposed to use troops to collect the garbage, organized labor, which represents a lot of New Yorkers, countered with the threat of a general strike. Death by garbage, these New Yorkers were saying, is preferable to loss of the right to inflict and endure incessant inconvenience.

And now that the garbage is being collected again, it seems possible that they had a point. In one cross-town street the other morning it was collected at 5:55 a.m.

From an eighth-floor bedroom it seemed at first that a gigantic noise-making machine had been placed just outside the window. Like some grotesque vacuum cleaner, it roared and whined off and on for 40 minutes while the entire building vibrated.

Outraged citizens did not pour into the streets in pajamas to mob the garbage men. No one even threw an empty bottle at them. In London they would have been arrested. In Paris they would have been bloodied. In Washington they would have been denounced in the Senate by Wayne Morse. Not in New York. New Yorkers will take anything.

New Yorkers will pay $1.75 for an ounce of whiskey and never make a scene.

New Yorkers will come across with real money to see the Mets play imitation baseball. New Yorkers will stand in line to get into a movie. New Yorkers will stand in Times Square on New Year's Eve so that the rest of the country can have a mob scene to glance at for a moment on television.

New Yorkers will write for theater tickets and not complain when tickets arrive for a performance three months in the future. "We realize that the theaters have to fill the out-of-town requests first," a New York woman explains. This may or may not be true—peace, David Merrick—but it is typical of the resigned New York spirit that a New Yorker should naturally expect to be served last in his own home town.

There is a typical New York sign on the wall of a Sixth avenue coffee shop. "Please leave promptly upon completion of your meal," it urges. "Loitering is punishable by law." New Yorkers eat in this coffee shop and probably clear out fast.

In brief, New Yorkers let themselves be bullied, hustled along and pushed around more docilely than any other group of urban citizens outside the orient. They seem to have resigned themselves to the fiction that the pleasures of life in a big city must be paid for through an incessant submission to a series of everyday brutalities.

There is nothing whatsoever to this theory. Londoners enjoy all the urban pleasures available to New Yorkers but submit to practically none of the brutality. This may be because the Londoner has refused to surrender his dignity upon the spurious demand that surrender is required for the efficient functioning of a big city. London seems to exist for the needs of people. New Yorkers are being browbeaten into the assumption that people must bend to accommodate the needs of New York.

Thomas Hoving, when he was parts commissioner, struck a blow for people when he de-toured New York traffic out of Central Park on weekends. The automobile, he reasoned, is a blessing only so long as it serves man. When it asserts the right of sovereignty over man, it is time to slap it down.

The same principle applies to garbage collection. When it occurs at 6 a.m. it is time for men to take to the streets in anger. In fact, the hour has struck all over New York. It is time to start making ugly scenes about the price of mixed drinks. It is time to quit cheering the Mets for losing. It is time to linger an hour over coffee in restaurants that affront the individual with rude signs, and then invite the management to make something of it.

It is time to stand up and insist upon the principle that life, even in New York, is for living, and not for suffering. It is time for New Yorkers to quit boasting about being able to take it. Sheep can do that.

It's Nice To Think Warm

In the winter, I think summer. The winds sound like a pitch-pipe and the white flakes whip into the corner of the window-sills to hide. It's good to think warm...

Marty Knight had a farm in Piscataway Township. There was a white two-story house with a lot of escalloped gingerbread on the eaves and a front porch. The house was back off a red clay road which moved in two directions to nowhere. One day he had a photographer come and he got his little wife Katie and the whole family posed on the porch.

Bishop

buns behind her ears, and Jennie Tier, plump and young in pince-nez glasses, and all the mop-haired kids, the boys tan and doxy in knickers and the girls bright and eager in their Sunday frocks.

They're all gone. The picture is chewed up but the faces are there. Everybody had a Marty Knight and a Katie long ago. They were never seen in winter. In the summer, city people came for a couple of weeks and helped with the chores.

Behind the house was an array of bee nests with old bricks on the top board. There was an orchard of apple trees, a few black cherries and a peach tree. Late August was the best time, because Mr. Knight allowed the kids to pick anything off the grass. Some of the green apples would break your teeth, among other things.

There was a long bungalow called the "Summer House." This is where everybody ate breakfast. Bessie cooked and you could have cereal and toast and a lot of bacon and eggs and a rasher of home fries. At dawn, blue smoke came out of the Summer House. The door was an alarm clock. Further down the lane was the barn. It looked like it had a dislocated shoulder, but it was strong. There was a block and fall to bring the hay up to the loft. Inside was a placid brown horse named Dick. He minded his own business and made a noise swishing his tail against his flanks. There was a wonderful odor of hay and oats and a chunk of rock salt and manure and old leather harness.

Sometimes, when the afternoon sun filtered in, the bees came in and they made their busy sounds. Outside was a skinny hound dog named Leed. At night he would point his neck up to the sky and bark as though he was in mourning. Far off, the Lehigh Valley freight trains were rolling toward New York with the morning milk and the steam locomotives blew their whistles and made a lonely echo.

You could watch the corn grow, like sissy soldiers all in rows with their arms flapping at their sides. The black birds used to sit on the wires, watching Mr. Knight sweat over the beans. When he left, they worked the beans.

He never seemed to get angry. If you were a kid, he'd run that big skinny hand over your hair and he'd say: "Keep away from Reilly." Reilly was Leed's brother, and he was chained to the Summer House. Leed would let you wrestle him, but Reilly would see you coming and he would crouch and peel his up-lip back from his teeth and he sounded like he was gargling.

In the big house, they had feather beds and you had to climb up after you said your prayers and fall in. You went down, down, down in the feathers until you were lost. They had a white chamber pot under the bed with a pink rose on it. There was a bureau with a big pitcher filled with well water. A basin sat under it like a saucer. There were spiders on the ceiling.

Katie was strict. When the sun went down, she turned to all the children, no matter who they belonged to, and she clapped her hands together and said: "March!" That was bedtime. Some kids cried, but their mothers were helpless. Katie ran the house. Mr. Knight ran the farm.

On Sunday, he hitched Dick to the light rig and he put on a striped shirt and a tall celluloid collar and went off to church. The bees kept working while he was away. The apples kept growing.

The big meal was noon. There was meat, hot and cold, all kinds of vegetables, and those steaming ears of corn with the chunks of homemade butter running yellow between the kernels. Marty Knight went to bed after he ate and in an hour he was back in the fields.

Lose Faith in Thieu

SAIGON—Angry resentment is boiling up here against President Nguyen Van Thieu who, less than six months after his election, is in deep political trouble. The betting in this coup-conscious country is that he will never finish his four-year term.

The muttering against Thieu has been heightened by the jarring Viet Cong attacks on several key South Vietnamese cities right under the nose of his government. But there is also growing disillusion over his failure to carry out social reforms. The anti-Thieu talk comes from four general sources:

1. The Young Turks in the South Vietnamese army, most of them officers of middle rank, are restive under the leadership of commanders who continue to be selected more for their political connections than their military ability. A promised streamlining, which would reduce the power of the top generals, has never materialized. The army remains under the thumbs of the four corps commanders who are virtual warlords in their areas. Together they form Thieu's political base.

2. The public also has become increasingly cynical over Thieu's failure to clean up corruption and introduce reforms. Many Vietnamese who voted for Thieu have given up hope that he will be any better than his predecessors who seized power. As one explained to this column: "The dung heap is the same. Only the flies are different."

3. American Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has pressed President Thieu to adopt a socio-political program that will present the Vietnamese people with an alternative to the revolution offered by the communists. But the results have been discouraging. Thieu seems more preoccupied with petty rivalries than with solving his country's problems.

4. Thieu has also lost the respect of other Asian leaders. I have talked to several of Free Asia's foremost statesmen, including three heads of state. For obvious diplomatic reasons, they will not speak for publication about the head of another nation. But, privately, almost all of them described Thieu as a "lightweight." One president, who has participated in international conferences with Thieu, called him "a procrastinator."

South Vietnam's officialdom increasingly is choosing sides between President Thieu and Vice President Ky. As front man for the four warlords, Thieu has become the defender of the present order. He gives lip service to reforms but never puts them into effect.

Ky's quarrel with Thieu is probably more personal than ideological. Periodically he storms off in a pique over some presidential affront, real or imagined, sometimes staying away from his office for days at a time. As Thieu's leading opponent, however, Ky has suddenly become the champion of reform.

Inevitably, the top Americans in South Vietnam have become drawn into the feud. The American generals, having developed a close working relationship with the South Vietnamese generals, side with the Thieu clique. Behind the scenes, they have helped to sabotage reforms, particularly reforms that would alter the South Vietnamese military structure and curb the four warlords.

The U.S. generals, for example, are suspicious of Ky's efforts to shake up the South Vietnamese army. They are responsible, after all, for organizing and training the South Vietnamese army along conventional lines. Ky and the reformers contend that the army should be overhauled and whipped into a mobile, swift-striking, counter-insurgency force.

One skeptical American general, referring to Ky's background in the air force, dismissed his ideas with the gruff comment: "Ky has never commanded infantry."

However, several top civilians in General William Westmoreland's command vigorously agree with the reformers. They point out that a conventional army, following the tactics taught at West Point, has been unable to cope with the elusive guerrilla style of warfare.

"We have assembled more firepower in Vietnam," one contended, "than we used to crush Germany in World War II. Yet the Viet Cong slipped around our great military compounds, crept in the back door, shot up Saigon and, for a few hours, occupied part of the American embassy."

This was evidence, he suggested, that we are "fighting the wrong war at the wrong time in the wrong place." He pleaded that mobility was more important than firepower in seeking out and destroying the guerrillas.

"The Special Forces," he said, "have learned how to fight the guerrillas, but they are treated like outcasts by our Army."

Defending the conventional strategy, a general insisted to this column that a small group of desperate men can shoot up any capital in the world, including Washington. This would not mean, he argued, that they could conquer the United States. It is more important to hold the centers and control the transportation. This takes a conventional military force, he said. He also contended that North Vietnam, not the rag-tag Viet Cong guerrillas, poses the greatest threat to South Vietnam. Again, a conventional army is needed to hold off a possible invasion.

Whatever the merits of the opposing arguments, Thieu's failure to push reforms has caused widespread unrest, and whispers are spreading of a coup against his lackadaisical government.

The Tables Are Reversed

HARRISBURG—In these dying hours of Pennsylvania's first constitutional revision effort in nearly a century, frustration and exasperation perhaps best reflect the mood of many a delegate.

Others are bathed in an aura of satisfaction. In all of this is a touch of irony. It dates back to the early days of the Constitutional Convention—to December and January.

In those days the efforts of the convention were dominated for the most part by those who might loosely be termed the idealists — or perhaps more pointedly expressed: those whose basic interest in the convention was a sincere desire to produce a better constitutional document.

This faction (if it can be called that) of the convention found themselves bathed in an "aura of satisfaction"—at that time, it appeared that the pressure groups, the lobby interests and the special groups were in the underdog position. They were. On the other hand, the pressure, lobby and special interest groups were in a posture of frustration and exasperation over being unable to exert the influence they desired in those early, formative days of the convention.

Today the tables in effect have been reversed. The idealists of early convention days are the frustrated and exasperated

It got hot. The sun soaked in to the dark spongy soil and made the rows of corn shiver. Leed dragged his chain around to the barn door and found a dark cool corner inside. In the winter, I think summer. It's nice to think warm...

In the winter, I think summer. It's nice to think warm...

The concern felt by many delegates was perhaps succinctly expressed in a worried telegram sent to the convention jointly by Josephine W. Farlow, President of the League of Women Voters and Elizabeth Dunkelberger, President of the American Association of University Women, who said at one point:

"If the proposals represent special interests rather than the public interest, if the convention exchanges one set of specifics for another, if the only changes are those that will offend no one, your efforts and ours will have been an expensive effort in futility."

Within the past fortnight the convention has assumed an atmosphere of an arm-twisting session of Pennsylvania's Legislature in a fight over a major piece of legislation—to the utter irritation, exasperation and frustration of those delegates concerned only with turning in the finest piece of work possible.

The convention passes out of existence tomorrow. It can be termed neither a great success nor a resounding failure. It falls somewhere in between.

The action of some of the delegates, more particularly the "professional" bloc, has scalded the ears of many a delegate who came to the convention simply hoping to produce a full book of sincere and honest recommendations for Pennsylvania's electorate when they go to the polls April 23.

At best it is regarded as only a partial book.

Chances are excellent, in the opinion of a number of delegates, that instead of full-blooded all-out support for the recommendations of the convention, many delegates themselves will split their urgings to the electorate at home, suggesting voting for some of the recommendations, a gainst others.

Under such circumstances a confused electorate if not a disinterested electorate could be the end result when the issues are voted in April.

Apply 'Only If'

To become a plumber today, a high school education is a virtual "necessity" and a five-year apprenticeship is "recommended." To get jobs ranging from appliance repair to carpet installation, a usual requirement now is a high school diploma.

A college degree is a routine demand in such fields as forestry, FBI work, landscape architecture, recreation work, kindergarten teaching. In a growing number of fields, post-college degrees are moving from the "desirable" to the "necessary" category. A master's degree for instance, is becoming increasingly important for a vocational counselor, social worker, urban planner; a PhD is becoming a requirement for top jobs in biochemistry, college teaching, psychology.

Surely these details will not surprise you, if you have been following along with me, the relentless trend year after year toward higher and higher educational requirements for today's and tomorrow's jobs.

By 1975, only seven years away, the U.S. Labor Department predicts nearly one in three young workers beginning their careers in the U.S. will have had at least some college education vs. a little more than one in four today. By 1975, only 29 per cent will have had less than a high school education vs. 38 per cent today.

In this period, the most rapid growth in jobs will be in fields demanding the most education. Jobs in the professional occupations will increase at least twice as fast as the overall number of jobs in all fields. By contrast, jobs for operatives and craftsmen will increase relatively slowly, and jobs for low skilled or unskilled laborers actually are expected to decrease.

Yet, the frightening fact is that there are 3,000,000 high school dropouts in the 16-21 year age bracket in the U.S. today. These are the youngsters whose unemployment rates are nearly double those for graduates (and, if a Negro dropout, as high as 19 per cent).

Clearly, a crucial need is for more and better school and vocational counselors: There is a direct link between quitting school and lack of counseling. Clearly, also, we desperately need more and better teachers trained to work with minority and disadvantaged youngsters, particularly in big city slums and in remote rural areas. In many cases and in many places, a complete overhaul of the college-oriented high school curriculum will be the only answer. Drastic upgrading and updating of vocational courses will be essential, if we are to persuade potential dropouts to stay in school and if we are to equip them for the actual jobs in which they will be able to find employment.

Again, clearly we must provide far more motivation than we are already providing to encourage every bright, talented young American to climb as far up the educational ladder, to college and beyond, as he possibly can.

Unless we do all of these things or at least unless we do them better than we are now doing, we will be failing to keep the American promise and we also will be seriously retarding the nation's overall economic growth in this era.

In short, at stake is actually the very growth of our nation. Education is and will be ever more the fuel for economic expansion.

That Argument's Over

WASHINGTON — In Vietnam the future may be unknowable, but at least it is a help to understand the past. This is what gives really decisive importance to the remarkable post-mortem on the great Tet period attack on the South Vietnamese cities, so wisely (and uniquely) printed in Sunday's Washington Post.

The writer of the post-mortem, Douglas Pike, recently published the single authoritative work on the Viet Cong; and he is universally accepted as the best informed and most coolly impartial student of this difficult subject. Since there has been so much argument about the matter in this country, one must begin by noting that Pike makes nonsense of the view of the Tet period attack put forward by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and others.

"Assessment of the degree of failure (of the Tet period attacks) must be built on an assessment of the enemy's intentions," Pike sagely remarked. "If intentions in the offensive were . . . ambitious, then the failure was a major one. (And if the aim) was a knockout punch . . . the failure was monumental."

With all his special knowledge, and with all the evidence of captured documents and POW interrogations, Pike then defined the true intentions of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap as unquestionably threefold. First, the Tet period attacks were intended, and expected, to touch off a "general uprising" of the urban populations against the Saigon regime.

Second, the attacks were intended, and expected, to cause the "disintegration" of the South Vietnamese army, partly by knocking out its command structure, and partly by encouraging the rank and file to rally to the Viet Cong. And third, the attacks were intended, and expected, to knock out the main bases of American firepower, such as airfields and the like.

Realization of no more than one of these enemy intentions would have been a knockout punch. For the short term, at any rate, the enemy failure must therefore be classed as halfway between "major" and "monumental." A comparable American failure of intelligence and planning would now have caused the incineration of the Pentagon and the CIA and the relief of Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

That argument, then, may be regarded as over. But there was far more to the Pike post-mortem than the foregoing decisive answer to Sen. Kennedy and others like him. Its most interesting aspect, indeed, was Pike's cogent analysis of the reason for this new "pattern . . . quite unlike previous Communist military behavior in the war (which) will certainly hurt future Communist leadership credibility."

Briefly, Pike has concluded that the "moment had arrived" when Gen. Giap was forced to order the general offensive and the general uprising in the South. Giap was forced to do so, according to Pike, by rising dissension in the North Vietnamese politburo, combined with what "he (knew was) in the long run a strategically hopeless situation, in which American firepower (would) eat deeper and deeper into his reserves of men and arms."

That is another way of saying that the enemy decided to go for broke because he knew he could not support long-term attrition. From the documents and POW interrogations, Pike drew the further conclusion that Gen. Giap's scenario called for a substantive "end to the war by mid-1968."

Such are the most essential judgments of this great turning point by the man best qualified to judge by impartiality as well as deep knowledge. They do not mean, of course, that the failure of the Tet period attacks should be regarded as a final turning point in the war.

On the contrary, precisely because the enemy is now going for broke — because Gen. Giap's expending his resources with such cold-blooded lavishness — a new situation has been created for our side. The U.S.-South Vietnamese force structure that was quite adequate for a war of attrition against a conservative enemy may not be adequate in the new situation.

By expending his resources with this unprecedented lavishness, there are indications, in fact, that Gen. Giap has left Westmoreland with insufficient maneuver. But if Pike is right, the new situation is like a hand at poker in which the man able to make the last raise is just about sure to be the winner. And President Johnson can always make the last raise by calling up the reserves.

And once more, if Pike is right, such a last raise ought to win the hand provided (pray God) we have reasonable luck on the battlefield in the interval. For no one can doubt that the pressures on Gen. Giap have been vastly increased by the Tet period failure that Pike has defined so well.

Clarendon Area News

By SARAH M. SMITH
The regular meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Clarendon Methodist church was held in Fellowship Hall on Tuesday evening, Feb. 20, with Mrs. Emma Miller in charge. The meeting opened with a prayer, following which routine reports were heard and plans made for a rummage sale to be held on March 13 and 14. Mrs. Madge Morrison then conducted the devotion, opening with the hymn, "The Kingdom of God," followed by scripture reading from Matthew 24 and Mark 16, closing with prayer and the hymn, "The Kingdom Coming." Films were then shown of missions in Bolivia and the United States, and an article on Africa was read. A social time was then enjoyed, with refreshments being served by the hostesses, Mrs. Mildred Nollinger and Mrs. Edith Henderson. The next meeting is scheduled for March 19, with Mrs. Mary Campbell as leader and Mrs. Mildred Steele and Mrs. Nila Beth Crouse as hostesses.

Robert Wyckoff and son Billy, from Harbor Creek, spent the weekend of Feb. 24-25 with relatives and friends in Warren and Weldbank.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark DeGolia are spending the winter with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Farrell in Winterhaven, Fla.

Mrs. Madge Morrison attended the district executive meeting of the WSCS in Johnsonburg last week.

Mrs. Kenneth Knight has returned to her home here after having spent a few weeks visiting friends and relatives in Arizona and California.

Mrs. Minnie Vicini is visiting her son Robert and family in Cochran, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rapp are spending some time visiting friends and relatives in Tampa and other interesting places in Florida.

The "Barbershoppers" sponsored by the Win-One Class of the Methodist church will sing in the Methodist church on Monday evening, March 4. Every one is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Anthony Vicini has returned to her home in Weldbank after three weeks' stay in Detroit, Mich., having been called there by the serious illness of her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morrison from Buffalo spent last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Morrison.

Sheffield Notes

The World Day of Prayer service for the community will be held on Friday March 1 at 2 p.m. at the Free Methodist Church. Mrs. Delbert Bell, assisted by Mrs. Gilbert Burton and Mrs. Page Vashaw, is preparing the service in cooperation with the women of the local churches. Representing the Barnes Methodist church are Miss Nell Titus and Mrs. Ruth Miller; the First Methodist Church, Mrs. Wayne Chamberlain; Bethany Lutheran Church, Mrs. Eugene Rogers Jr.; and Mission Covenant Church, Mrs. Chris Yutze and Mrs. Robert Bell.

The American Legion Auxiliary had their February meeting last week in the IOOF Hall. Mrs. Ruth Howarth, president, presided, and donations were made to Nurses Scholarship Fund, Keystone Girl's Camp and the March of Dimes. The January meeting had been cancelled, so the thank you notes were read for the two months. Tabled was the discussion of the Johnny Appleseed Festival. The social committee were Mrs. Raymond Loomis, Mrs. Howarth, and Miss Edna Brown. The next meeting will be held at the IOOF Hall, as plans are to open the Legion Home in April. Mrs. Charlotte Armillei has sold her home on 23 Pratt st. to Mr. and Mrs. William M. Crozier. Mrs. Armillei and her sister, Mrs. Lillian Samuelson, are moving to North Warren.

Ideas For the Cook

If leftover vegetables are threatening to take over your refrigerator, combine them, heat with a can (8 ounces) of tomato sauce and serve as a brand new dish to your family. Honest, the leftovers won't taste left over at all, but will have a fresh new taste all their own.

Make Orange - Glazed Luncheon Meat from pantry - shelf ingredients. Cut 1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat crosswise into 8 slices. Drain 1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges; reserve syrup. In round 9-inch baking dish alternate meat and oranges. Combine 1 tablespoon cornstarch with reserved orange syrup; heat until smooth and thick with 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with mushrooms, 1/2 cup raisins and 1 tablespoon EACH sugar and lemon juice. Pour over meat; bake at 350 for 20 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Blissful meals begin with beef stew. In saucepan, cook 1/4 cup chopped celery in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine until tender. Add 1 can (1 pound 3 ounces) beef stew and 1/2 cup diced apple. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Chicken's encore can be as tasty as its debut. In buttered 1 1/2 quart casserole, mix 1 cup cooked rice with 1/4 teaspoon celery salt. Top with 1 cup cubed cooked chicken, 1/4 cup toasted silvered almonds, and 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento; pour 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) chicken gravy over. Bake at 350 F for 30 minutes. Makes 3 servings.

Feature favorite beans and franks in this hearty casserole. In 1 quart casserole, combine 1 can (1 pound) beans and franks in tomato sauce, 1/2 cup mild process cheese cubes, and 1 tablespoon chow chow. Bake at 350 F for 25 minutes. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

In the mood for a Mexican dinner? Don't hop the nearest plane for Mexico City. . . reach in your freezer for frozen prepared international dinner. In no time you're dining on beef enchiladas, tamales, refried beans, Mexican rice plus a hot pepper sauce. Go to Mexico tonight, and tomorrow. . . try the hearty German style dinner featuring sauerbraten with all the trimmings. It's in the freezer too.

Tomato Blush turns any gathering into a party. In saucepan, combine 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed tomato soup, and 1 soup can water. Heat, stirring now and then. Meanwhile, place about 1 teaspoon whipped cream in each cup or mug; sprinkle with nutmeg. Pour hot soup over; serve immediately. Makes 3 servings. Pass along some crunchy nibblers.

Charm the chill off home-for-lunchers with good double-beef noodle soup, and egg salad sandwiches. In saucepan, combine 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed beef soup, 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed beef noodle soup, 1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained, 1/2 soup cans water, and a dash ground thyme or sage. Heat, stirring, occasionally. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Warm up fast after skiing or skating with sunny tomato soup. In saucepan, combine 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed tomato soup, 1 soup can water, 1 cup shredded mild process cheese and a dash pepper. Heat, stirring often, until cheese melts. Makes 3 servings.

Devise and conquer hearty appetites with this man-pleasing soup combo. In saucepan, combine 1 can each (10 3/4 ounces) condensed Scotch broth soup, and vegetable soup; add 2 soup cans water. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BE RED AND BE READY

SAUSAGE CHOWDER

Brown 'n Serve Sausage turns this easy-to-prepare chowder into a hearty meal that will delight everyone while making work light for Mom after a busy day.

Chowder With a New Twist

Sausage chowder turns a simple supper into a hearty meal. When served piping hot at the table, the family can watch the chunks of browned sausage, tender lima beans and creamy soup being ladled into individual bowls. The satisfying blend of flavors belies the ease of preparation.

One reason the cooking time is short is that the brown and serve sausage in the recipe is purchased fully cooked. The homemaker browns the sausage quickly to suit the family's preference and adds it to the vegetables in the chowder mixture. The flavorful chowder is seasoned with onion and celery.

is neither time-consuming or difficult to make. The trick is to be sure the flour is well dispersed in the milk before the bouillon and other ingredients are added.

Brown and serve sausage is best known at breakfast time. Because it browns in the same length of time it takes to make toast or fry an egg, a satisfying breakfast is possible in a matter of minutes.

The hostess faced with preparing hot appetizers for a crowd also turns to brown and serve sausage. A quantity of the sausage links cut in thirds and arranged in a jelly-roll pan browns quickly in a hot oven with a minimum of attention. The hot tidbits are transferred to a chafing dish and topped with a zippy sauce. It could be a cheese, a sweet and sour sauce or a peppery tomato-horseradish combination. Guests help themselves by spearing bite-sized pieces of sausage with fancy wooden picks.

SAUSAGE CHOWDER +
Yield: 6 to 8 servings
8 ounce package brown 'n serve sausage cut in thirds
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped celery
1 cup milk
1/4 cup flour
1 cup hot beef bouillon
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup cooked cubed potatoes
1 cup cooked lima beans
In a large kettle or Dutch oven brown sausage pieces ac-ording to package directions. Remove sausage. Add butter. Sauté onion and celery until soft. Meanwhile, pour milk into a jar that has a tight lid. Add flour on top of milk. Cover tightly, and shake well to make a smooth mixture of milk and flour. Add bouillon, milk-flour mixture, browned sausage, and remaining ingredients to the Dutch oven. Mix well. Simmer 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve piping hot and garnish with chopped parsley if desired.

Old Fashioned Favorites

The charm of a Saturday night supper lies in its simplicity, its goodness and its familiarity. . . and is often based on some well-loved dish dating back to childhood. Since Saturday is round-up for scrubbing, cleaning, shopping and last minute chores, the homemaker of today, confronting a hectic-paced day, turns to make-ahead recipes and easy menus, much as her grand-mother, with her pot of baked beans, did.

What could be simpler, better tasting or more familiar than a cheering cup of colorful green soup. Serve it up in a pretty mug for easy handling. One sip and immediately good things begin to happen. The spirit relaxes and the appetite is whetted. A zesty meatloaf, prepared early in the day, is ready to tuck into the oven whenever desired. This is accompanied by an old fashioned vegetable scallop, set out in a really scalloped-shaped dish and heaped high with the yellow green and red of limas, corn and tomatoes. It's easy as opening cans and is ready in 20 minutes. Highlighting the end of this old fashioned meal is an upside-down cake, mellow gold as the setting sun, and an ideal make-ahead dessert that grows more flavorful with setting.

Make-Ahead Meat Loaf
2 pounds ground beef
1 cup tomato juice or milk
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon basil or oregano
Combine all ingredients, mixing well. Pack into a loaf pan 9x5x3". Bake in moderate oven (350°F) for one hour. Turn out on serving platter, garnish with green pepper rings.

FAST VEGETABLE SCALLOPED DISH
1 can (16 to 17 ounces) lima beans, drained
1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
1 can (16 to 17 ounces) tomatoes
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons butter
In 1 1/2 quart casserole, combine all ingredients, except butter. Dot surface with butter. Bake in moderate oven (350°F) for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Make-Ahead Upside-Down Cake
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1 can (16 to 17 ounces) sliced peaches, drained maraschino cherries, cut in halves
1/4 cup nuts, chopped
Melt butter in 9 or 10-inch cake pan. Sprinkle sugar evenly over butter; arrange peach slices and cherries in attractive pattern on top of sugar; sprinkle with nuts.

Cake Batter
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup soft shortening
2/3 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
Sift dry ingredients together into bowl; add remaining ingredients except egg, and beat 2 minutes; add egg and beat 2 minutes more. Pour batter over fruit and bake 40 to 50 minutes in moderate oven (350°F). Immediately turn upside-down on serving plate.

NOTE: A yellow or white cake mix may be used by pouring half the batter over fruit mixture and baking other half as a plain layer for a dessert at another meal.

Meal Ideas

Roast beef on Sunday? Make Beef, Rice and Tomatoes on Tuesday. In an oven-proof skillet brown 1/2 cup sliced onion in 1 tablespoon pure vegetable oil. Add 2 cups chopped cooked beef, 2 cups cooked rice, 2 cans (8 ounces each) OR 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits, 1/2 cup water, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Bake at 350 degree for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Toss lettuce and diced avocado or cauliflowerettes with zesty Mexican Fiesta Dressing. Fry 4 slices bacon in skillet; remove, drain and crumble. To drippings blend in 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with cheese; 1 small onion, finely chopped; 1 teaspoon chili powder; and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add 1/3 cup vinegar and heat to boiling. Pour hot dressing over salad; serve at once. Makes 1 1/2 cups dressing — enough for about 2 quarts greens.

Brazil, largest country in South America, is the only Latin American nation deriving its culture and language from Portugal.

SATURDAY SUPPER

After a busy day of shopping and other chores, Saturday night's supper should be simplicity itself though wholesome and hearty. What could be better than mugs of old-fashioned pea soup, a savory meatloaf prepared ahead of time, scalloped vegetables and a make-ahead upside down cake.

Mr. Bluebird

Mr. Bluebird, better known around Warren as Bill Highhouse, really started something a few years back when he worked out a successful method of providing nesting places for bluebirds. With the bluebird fast approaching the point of becoming an endangered species, Highhouse's proven program of increasing their numbers gained national recognition. Considered as a top authority now, ornithologists in all parts of the country keep in touch with Bill and look forward to his annual report of results obtained in his 60-box trail.

The following release was received by him from Raleigh R. Stotz, a member of the Grand Rapids (Mich.) Audubon Club.

'Save The Bluebirds'

The natural nesting sites of bluebirds have all but vanished. The survival of this beautiful and useful bird is almost entirely dependent upon help from man to provide nesting sites. At the lowest ebb the species had been reduced eighty per cent.

The Michigan Audubon Society announces that its affiliate the Grand Rapids Audubon Club is starting the sixth year of its well known "Bluebirds Unlimited" educational program. In the past five years many thousand publications giving plans on how to build houses and how, when and where to erect them have been sent out. In addition to all that have been built about 9,000 houses have been distributed by the club. A new twelve page brochure is available which includes plans for building houses.

The 1967 season produced a large number of bluebirds and was generally regarded as successful. Continued participation in the many programs throughout the country to save the bluebird will mean that this beautiful bird will not suffer extinction. An average of one new bluebird can be produced from each new house properly located while an average of two birds is common. A veteran birder (Highhouse) who has a sixty house trail five years old last year produced 256 bluebirds and 125 tree swallows for an average of six birds from each house.

Each year approximately 25 percent of the nests are lost to predators. The Bluebird Unlimited Committee is working to reduce this loss. It has been successfully proved that the use of one-half of one per cent rotenone powder on the nests and eggs has saved many birds by killing the larvae of the blow fly which feeds upon the nestlings. The powder can be bought at any pet shop. Tests have also proved that cone-shaped sheet metal guards help protect the nests from predators. This year the committee will test a bluebird house which hopefully will be predator proof.

While Audubon officials believe progress is being made they caution that much remains to be done for the bluebirds. Consequently Audubon clubs are urging that more individuals should put out two or three houses. Such widespread distribution will make houses available in widely scattered areas.

Houses not occupied by bluebirds are often taken over by tree swallows in certain areas. These swallows are good neighbors to the bluebirds and have been known to nest within fifty feet of each other. The tree swallow is a valuable bird and because it is compatible with the bluebird information concerning it is included in the brochure.

Since there are many requests for information about purple martins, most useful and beautiful birds, detailed plans for building a purple martin house are also included in the brochure. Also included are suggestions for the care of these birds. The survival of the purple martin is entirely dependent upon man-made nesting sites being provided.

For those who do not desire to build bluebird houses durable low cost factory built nesting boxes are offered. The brochure also lists five aluminum martin houses ranging in size from six to 36 compartments. Send 10 cents with each request for a brochure to the Grand Rapids Audubon Club, c/o The Public Museum, 54 Jefferson S.E., Grand Rapids, Michigan 49502.

Jeannette And Tarentum Notch Playoff Victories

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jeannette knocked off Latrobe 50-47 Tuesday night in a WPIAL first round Class A game and Tarentum slipped by Rankin 63-60 in the Class B quarter-finals. Both were upsets.

The Jeannette-Latrobe game was actually a playoff for the Section 2 title but also considered a first-round tournament game.

Latrobe led 47-43 with three minutes remaining, then Jeannette ripped off seven straight points in a surprise ending against favored Latrobe.

Chuck Durbin dropped in two free throws, breaking a 47-47 deadlock and putting Jeannette ahead to stay. His brother, John, got two points during the seven-point rally and finished with 21, high for Jeannette.

Steve Scheeren paced the Latrobe scoring with 19. It was Jeannette's 18th victory against four defeats, Latrobe bowed out with a 19-4 mark.

Rankin, which went into the game with a 21-0 record as the only undefeated Class B team in the WPIAL, started out hot, building a 14-point lead in the first period.

Tarentum, led by Chet Teklinski's 19 points, worked back slowly. With 1:22 left, Norm Moser dropped in two free throws, breaking a 58-58 tie.

Sheffield Paced County Quintets With 18-4 Overall Season Record

The 1967-68 Warren County basketball squads played 105 games during the season to a slightly better than 50-per cent average, 509, on a 53-52 record.

Perhaps Bob Burlingame's 60 points in one game could be called the greatest achievement of the season, or maybe the Sheffield Wolverines' record of 18-4 rates that nod.

Best in County

Sheffield, coached by Nick Creola, appeared to be the best team in the county this year as they finished with an 18-4 state and outscored their opponents by 585 points, 1,952 to 1,367.

The Wolverines started out the season with an excellent record, playing their first eight games before suffering a loss.

The defeat was suffered at the hands of Allegheny Mountain at Brockway, 62-56. Brockway also gave the Wolverines their biggest losing margin, 13 points, in the second meeting between the two squads, 61-48.

Sheffield hit the century mark eight times this season with their biggest winning margin coming in their last game when they dumped Tidioute, 133-63, giving the Wolverines a 70-point edge.

Sheffield was also victorious in the UAVL Holiday Tournament at East Forest where they won their first game over Eisenhower, 92-83, and finished off Pleasantville in the finals, 78-62, to receive the Championship Team Trophy.

The Wolverines broke two SHS records this season. The old record of most points scored by Sheffield in one game—114, set in 1963-64—was crushed early in the season with 115 points and then reset several times, ending up with the mark of 133 points.

The individual scoring record also went at Sheffield High when Wayne Swanson scored 45 points, breaking the old mark of 43 points held by George Petruney.

The Wolverine cagers played to second place in the AML and first place as a Class C team with a 4-2 slate.

The Eagles' season started out on a bad note when one of their most promising players, Marty Yucha, was benched after the Warren game with a broken arm.

However, Youngsville soon worked around the handicap and started winning games, relying on George Nelson for most of the rebounding.

The Eagles' most embarrassing moment of the season was their first loss to Pleasantville. The Falcons topped the Eagles by 47 points, 1,453 to 1,406, while Ike squeezed past their foes with 21 points, 1,480 to 1,459.

three points, 72-69. The game not only yielded Ike a loss, but it was in this tilt that Knight star Bob Burlingame was benched for the next two games with a twisted ankle.

Ike's worst game was early in the season when North East clobbered the Blue and Gold by 37 points, 87-50. The Knights' 54 points over Tidioute, 96-42, was their best showing.

The old Ike scoring record of 48 points, held by Bud Rowland and equaled by Keith Hartley, was shattered by Burlingame, who netted 60 points against East Forest.

Eisenhower's winning streak came late in the season when they won eight of their last nine games.

The Knights ended up in third place in the Holiday Tournament. However, Burlingame was voted Most Valuable Player in the two-day event, bringing more honors to EHS.

The Blue and Gold cagers were forced to share second place in the UAVL with Youngsville. Eisenhower's 12-10 slate is the best record for Ike coach Bill Sherwood since the 1963-64 season, when Ike went 12-9.

Rough for Dragons

The Warren Dragons had a rough season that found them losing almost half of their games by less than ten points. Coach Joe Shantz rallied the Dragon cagers to an 8-13 overall record and a 6-3 slate in Section II to end up in a three-way tie for third place.

The Dragons' biggest losing margin and biggest winning edge was surprisingly accomplished against the same team. In the first game with Franklin, the Dragons were downed by 44 points as the Knights triumphed, 87-43. However, when Franklin came to Warren, the Dragons got their revenge and dumped the Knights 87-65, their biggest winning margin all season.

Warren failed to outscore their opponents this season as they were faced with a 99-point deficit. The Blue and White collected 1,359 points while giving up 1,458.

The Dragons never managed to win more than three games in a row and this they did twice in the season. However, their longest losing streak came at the end of the season when they handed their last four games over to their opponents.

Bulldogs Surprised

Tidioute wasn't able to make much progress this season but did manage to surprise three teams in the UAVL by netting victories. The Bulldogs finished the season with an overall 3-15 slate and a 3-9 record in UAVL play, placing them in the cellar of the loop.

The Bulldogs' biggest losing margin all season was their last game when they fell at the hands of Sheffield by 70 points, 133-63. Tidioute won two of their three victories by only three points, 72-69, with their biggest margin over Spartansburg of nine points, 75-66.

Tidioute's season opened poorly. They lost five games

Olympic Trials Turned Down By Bruin Stars

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lew Alcindor, Lucius Allen and Mike Warren, all stars on UCLA's defending NCAA champion basketball team, rejected invitations to compete in the Olympic Trials, the NCAA announced Tuesday.

In disclosing the action of the three UCLA players, the NCAA also announced its 48-man squad for the trials.

The NCAA said no UCLA players were included because the three players turned down the bids.

The squad does include Elvin Hayes, top man for Houston's No. 1-ranked Cougars, although Hayes earlier had indicated he might pass up the Olympics for an early start in pro ball.

Sports Stadium Set for Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Erie County Legislature took a step toward obtaining a major league baseball franchise for Buffalo Tuesday by approving a resolution that committed the county to build a multi-million dollar sports stadium.

The stadium, if built, also would be used by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League. No site has been chosen for the facility.

Rose Whips Harada For Bantam Crown

TOKYO (AP) — Lionel Rose, an Australian aborigine, became his country's first world boxing champion in 14 years Tuesday night when he beat Japan's Masahiko "Fighting" Harada on a unanimous 15-round decision and won the world bantamweight title.

Bob Even Better!

Eisenhower High School's Bob Burlingame, Warren County's 1967-68 scoring champion, played in only 19 games during the past season and not 20 as reported in Tuesday's TMO.

As a result, the Knight star averaged 29.3 points per game and not 27.9 as carried in the final scoring chart.

Eisenhower played a 22-game schedule, but Burl missed both the East Forest and Mayville, N.Y. games with an ankle injury and was out for the West Forest contest with the flu.

MONDAY AT BROOKVILLE HIGH

Wolverines Start Playoff Slate Against A-C Valley

Sheffield High's Wolverines, the only Warren County team in post-season playoff competition, will enter District IX, Class C action on Monday, March 4.

At a meeting of the District IX committee held at Reynoldsville on Monday, Sheffield was scheduled to meet Allegheny-Clarion Valley (Eminton) at 8 p. m. at Brookville High School. Port Allegany drew a bye and will play the winner of the Sheffield vs. A-C Valley game on Thursday, March 7 at either Bradford High School or Ridgway High School.

If Sheffield defeats A-C Valley, the contest will be held at Bradford. But if A-C Valley wins, Ridgway will be the site of the game with Port Allegany.

The winner of the March 7 tilt will advance into inter-district competition against the District X, Class C champion on Tuesday, March 11 at a site to be announced.

The winner of the March 11 inter-district clash is slated to meet the survivor of the District V-District VI playoff for the Western Regional Championship on Saturday, March 16, at a site to be determined later.

The Western Regional Champion will play the Eastern Regional winner, which includes

District X-A Final March 9

The District X, Class A basketball playoff game between Section II champion Meadville and the winner of the Section I-Section III game will be played on Saturday, March 9, and not on March 5 as listed in Saturday's TMO.

The site of the playoff will be announced at a later date.

First Dinner Held By Power Squadron

Jackson Valley Country Club was the setting Monday night for the first dinner-meeting of the local Power Squadron. After completion of dinner, Lt. Commander Bob Foster turned the meeting over to representatives from the parent organization in Erie.

Commander Russ Smith and past Commander John Downie presented certificates for the successful completion of the pilot course conducted last year to members who had not attended the Founder's Day Dinner-Dance held earlier in Erie.

Erie was well represented at the meeting. About a dozen members charted a course and navigated down to help install the new members. Officers, in addition to Smith and Downie, were Executive Officer Ziegler, Treasurer Stow, and past Commander and photographer Jueschke.

Many of the local members have enrolled for another 12 week course on seamanship to improve their abilities, to enjoy safe boating and to help others.

The Power Squadron believes that a large portion of the boating public has too little knowledge of boating safety. Each year approximately 1500 lives are lost in boating accidents in this country. At least 90 percent of those killed are men. More than 30 percent of all fatalities occur in open boats, largely those with outboard motors.

The Squadron plans to present a short course on boat safety this spring. The boating public is urged to stop at the Squadron's booth at the Kiwanis Sports Show later this year and to watch the TMO for details on the boat safety course.

The Squadron's motto is "Safe boating through education."

Men Bowlers' Event Begins on Saturday

Norm Wooster, secretary of the Warren Men's Bowling Association, has announced the schedule for the first weekend of competition in the annual tournament starting on Saturday.

The team event will be held at Riverside Lanes in Warren and Limestone Lanes of Tidoute will host the doubles and singles.

This weekend's schedule will be as follows:

TEAM EVENT

Riverside
Saturday, 9 p. m. -- East Side Fruit (Classic League) vs. C&H Appliance (Wednesday Nites) on alleys 1 & 2; Style Shop (Inter-City) vs. Ralph's Market (Metro) on 3 & 4; Rotary No. 1 (Service) vs. Finishing (National Forge) on 5 & 6; Sheffield Tavern (Major) vs. Crystal Components (Inter-City) on 7 & 8.

Yanks' Wood Tied for Skate Lead

GENEVA (AP) — After a thrilling duel with U.S. Olympic silver medalist Tim Wood, defending champion Emmerich Danzer of Austria forged a lead in the world figure skating championships Tuesday.

After four figures, Danzer led with 684 points to Wood's 674.3. Patrick Pera of France, the bronze medalist at the winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, was third with 656.3 points.

Danzer who trailed Wood, 19, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., after two figures, came back strongly at precisely the same stage where he cracked up in the Olympics two weeks ago and lost his chance for a medal.

Wood will have to make a superb effort Wednesday in the remaining two compulsory figures left in the competition, because Danzer is regarded as the world's top free skater and doesn't figure to be beaten in that part of the event.

Letter To Sports Editor

I would like at this time to publicly thank each and every one who helped make the 1968 Winter Ski Carnival at York Mountain a success.

A special thanks should be directed to the Warren Times-Mirror & Observer, the Youngville Courier, radio station WNAE and the C. B. Rangers for their extensive coverage and cooperation. Our appreciation to Elmer Hill and his staff cannot be expressed enough for their help and cooperation.

We would like to apologize to the spectators of the races on Sunday as last minute plans had to be made to hold races where there was sufficient snow. Next year we will have transportation to race areas should the situation arise again.

Again thanks to everyone and we hope we can provide a bigger and better carnival next year.

Warren County Ski Club

Five Corvettes Entered in LeMans Classic

PARIS (AP) — Five Chevrolet Corvettes will be the biggest cars in the June 15-16 LeMans 24-hour automobile race, the organizers announced Tuesday.

The list of 55 cars invited for the 36th running of the event shows no factory sponsored Fords or Ferraris. These two makes have dominated the race in the past 10 years, with Ford winning in 1966 and 1967.

Rules have been changed this year to limit cylinder capacity of sports prototype models to 3,000 cubic centimeters. The Chevrolet Corvettes, with a cylinder capacity of 6,998 cc, are entered in the grand touring category. Jean-Claude Killy, France's triple Olympic gold medal winner in Alpine skiing events, will drive one of them.

Five Fords have been entered in the sports category. Three of the Fords are GT40 models, much smaller than the 7-liter prototype models entered last year by the factory.

Six Ferraris have been entered in the sports and grand touring classes.

Pleasant Captures 20-8 Loop Victory

Pleasant posted a 20-8 triumph over Irvinedale in the Gra-Y Basketball League yesterday.

The win evened Pleasant's second half loop mark at 2-2. Larry Linman sparked the winners with eight points and Jerry Giegerich had four. Walters' four points was high for Irvinedale.

The linescore was as follows:
Pleasant 6 4 6 4-20
Irvinedale 4 2 0 2-8

Pirates' Bob Moose May 'Fly' This Year

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Bob Moose is young, and he likes the good things in life—like airplane rides and full tum-my.

Moose, a bridegroom at 20, is a rookie pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates. He hopes to be a major leaguer this year.

He's a big-shouldered youngster from Export, Pa., who got a brief taste of the major leagues last year in a short spell with the Pirates.

The Pirates like Moose—and Moose likes flying around in major league airplanes.

"We used to have 12-hour bus rides from Macon, Ga., to Evansville, Ind.," Moose said, recalling his minor league travels.

"I couldn't sleep on the buses, and I'd get awful hungry," added Moose. "I used up all my meal money in two days, but I never starved. I just used my own money to eat."

The Bucs expected big things from Moose. They figured he would spend a couple of good years in the minors, then move up to the big club, like in 1970. But Moose might be jumping the timetable.

He won his first major league game in Pittsburgh last year. His manager at Columbus, Ohio, Harding Peterson, was in the stands at Forbes Field when Moose won his first big game.

"Nothing scares Moose," Peterson said. "He takes charge of the hitter and he throws strikes. It's an amazing trait for a boy of 20."

"I remember how he walked off the field after winning. You'd

MAJOR COLLEGE CAGE POLL

Eighth-Ranked Marquette Falls, Bona Still Fourth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three of the nation's ranking college basketball teams, including top-rated Houston, got off to excellent starts this week. But Marquette stumbled just as it started to climb.

Houston lifted its season record to 26-0 Monday night by defeating Hardin-Simmons 105-82. Kentucky, No. 5, clinched the Southeastern Conference crown with an 89-57 triumph over Auburn.

Louisville, the only new team in The Associated Press' poll this week, trounced Memphis State. The Cardinals had moved into ninth place.

Marquette, however, was beaten by Xavier of Ohio 88-83 in overtime. The Warriors had climbed from 10th to eighth place in the latest vote based on games through last Saturday.

Houston received 25 first-place votes and 321 points in the balloting by a national panel of 33 sports writers. UCLA, 21-1, held second place. The Bruins collected eight votes for the No. 1 spot and 305 points.

North Carolina, 22-1, accumulated 258 points in the voting and held onto third place. There were no changes either in the next four positions as St. Bonaventure held fourth place followed by Kentucky, Columbia and New Mexico.

The Top Ten, through games of Saturday, Feb. 24 and total points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis:

1. Houston	321
2. UCLA	305
3. North Carolina	258
4. St. Bonaventure	220
5. Kentucky	177
6. Columbia	138
7. New Mexico	135
8. Marquette	68
9. Louisville	45
10. Duke	44

One More Pitch, Please

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.—Many ingredients go into the making of a successful big league manager and one of the more important of these is the recognition of when a pitcher has reached a point requiring his removal. It invariably is a difficult decision and it is not made any easier by the frequent plea of the pitcher for a reprieve. "Just one more pitch" or "just one more batter" is the traditional request.

Ralph Houk of the Yankees and Hank Bauer of the Orioles chanced to meet down here not long ago and got to talking about it. They agreed that a manager must never change his mind when he reaches the mound. Each learned the hard way. "Whitely Ford taught me the lesson early in my career," said Houk, grinning around a big cigar. "But it was a peculiar situation in every respect. First of all, I was only filling in for Casey Stengel, who was out sick. That made my position a little different. In the second place Whitely has always been honest, never trying to con a manager into letting him stay when he should be yanked."

"We were ahead with two men on and two men out in the ninth with Minnie Minoso coming to bat. I asked Whitely for the ball. 'Wait a minute, Ralph,' he said. 'I never had trouble with Minoso. I always can get him out. Let me pitch to him. I can end the game without any help.'

"It sounded logical and I agreed. But Minoso accidentally got a little piece of the ball and blooped one to right field as both runs scored. We lost the game and the writers pounced on me in the clubhouse afterwards. Now I was really on a spot because I had to protect Whitely."

"I'll take the blame," I said. "I guessed wrong. Ford has had success with Minoso throughout his career and that's why I let him stay." I don't know if I convinced anyone but I resolved that I never again would permit a pitcher to talk me out of removing him. I never have."

Bauer nodded understandingly. "I was trapped only once," said Hank. "Chuck Estrada was pitching for us and having trouble. I walked to the mound with Norm Cash coming to bat."

"Hank" said Estrada, "I can get this guy out." "I hesitated. Estrada was a nice guy with a sore arm and he was struggling hard to make the ball club. I gave him an extra chance. I'd hardly reached the dugout when Cash bounced one off the wall for a double. Nowadays I point to the bullpen when I cross the foul line. I ain't letting nobody talk me out of nuthin'."

The discussion rambled off from personal involvement to other conversational confrontations of managers and pitchers. Mention was made of the lesson taught Walter Alston by Don Newcombe early in the Ebbets Field phase of Alston's career. The Braves had just tagged Newk for two homers in succession when Walt strode to the mound to start removal proceedings. "Skip," said Big Don. "You know the percentages. No team can hit three homers in a row."

"Maybe you're right," said Alston, backing away. Just as he reached the dugout, the percentages were defied. The Braves hit the third homer and it was longer than either of the first two.

When the explosive Frank Frisch was managing the swash-bucklers on the legendary Gashouse Gang of St. Louis, The Flash was not often required to remove Dizzy Dean. Once he came close in rather peculiar circumstances. It was in the seventh game of the 1934 World Series when Dean began to ease up under the encouragement of a big lead. Maybe he did it out of his mischievous delight in "getting that Dutchman mad." He succeeded. The irate Flash left his position at second base and raced to the mound.

"Stop horsing around, you big clown," screamed Frisch. "This is the World Series. Pitch the way I told you to pitch." "It don't seem right, Frankie," drawled Diz, "for an infielder like you telling a great pitcher like me how to pitch."

"Cut it out," howled the Flash, "or I'll yank you out of the game."

"They ain't nobody yankin' ol Diz outta a game," taunted ol Diz. "Leastwhiles they ain't while he got hisself a seven-run lead."

The frustrated Frisch returned to his position in abject surrender. Casey Stengel occasionally used the circuitous approach to this ritual. Once he came out to derrick a pitcher who was getting lathered.

"Why are you taking me out?" asked the thrower. Casey nodded mysteriously toward the stands.

"It's dem I'm thinkin' of," he said in a hoarse whisper. "Up there people are startin' to talk."

Olympic Committee May Meet to Ponder Boycott

LONDON (AP) — A move to call a special meeting of the International Olympic Committee to discuss the 32-nation boycott caused by South Africa's readmission to the games is building up, Olympic officials said Tuesday.

Giulio Onesti, president of the Italian Olympic Committee, has asked Avery Brundage, IOC president, to call a special meeting and other delegates are prepared to back up the request, officials said.

Brundage has said he saw no possibility of a meeting being called, but IOC rules state that a meeting must be held if one-third of the 71-nation body requests it.

Monday, 32 African nations withdrew from the games, scheduled for Oct. 12-27 in Mexico City, to protest South Africa's participation.

South Africa was barred from the 1964 games because of its quest, officials said.

Brundage has said he saw no possibility of a meeting being called, but IOC rules state that a meeting must be held if one-third of the 71-nation body requests it.

Monday, 32 African nations withdrew from the games, scheduled for Oct. 12-27 in Mexico City, to protest South Africa's participation.

South Africa was barred from the 1964 games because of its racial policies, but was readmitted this year after promising to send an integrated team. Trials for the team will be segregated, however.

The Marquess of Exeter, an influential member of the IOC, agreed with Brundage that no special meeting should be held.

"We had exhaustive debates on the re-entry of South Africa," he said. "We took a postal vote on the issue and the vote was substantially in favor of South Africa's re-entry."

In Brussels, however, the president of the Belgian Olympic Committee, deplored the way the readmission of South Africa to the games had been handled.

Maj. Raoul Mollet said, "I personally deplore the policy followed by the International Olympic Committee in this instance."

"I strongly believe they acted lightly in being satisfied with nothing more than a vote by mail on such an important question instead of debating the problem."

The big question still hanging over the controversy is: Will Russia join the Africa boycott? There have been indications that the Soviets might pull out in sympathy with the Africans, but no official decision has yet been made.

Mick Signs Again, Sets Sights on Next Plateau

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle, veteran star of the New York Yankees, signed his sixth consecutive $100,000 contract Tuesday and promptly set his sights on moving into third place on the all-time home run list.

"I think I can hit 30 home runs, I don't think that's out of the question," said the 36-year-old Mantle, who made a successful transition last season from center field to first base.

Mantle hit 22 homers last year, giving him a lifetime total of 518. Ahead of him are Babe Ruth with 714, Willie Mays 564, Jimmy Foxx 534 and Ted Williams, 521. Of the four, only Mays is still playing.

Mantle, who will be starting his 18th season with the Yankees, posted a .245 batting mark — his career low — in 1967. He played in 144 games, though, more than any other member of the team.

He is not proud of his performance. "I can't do any worse than last year," he said. "In some games, I think I was hurting the team by playing. This year I'll settle for about 125 games."

The three-time American League Most Valuable Player speculated that he would play about five innings during the exhibition games.

"There's still a lot I've got to learn about playing first base," he said. "But I'm going to take it a little easier this spring. A year ago, I worked harder and then pulled a leg muscle in the opening game of the season. I don't want that to happen again."

Mantle isn't sure how long he will continue as a player. "Of course, I'd like to keep playing. When I do quit, it's going to be a hard thing to do," he said.

Red China's Trading On the Upswing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China's trade with the non-Communist countries of the world increased considerably in 1966, Secretary of State Dean Rusk reported to Congress on Tuesday.

Peking's exports to the non-Communist countries, compared with 1965, increased by 20.3 per cent and its imports by 14.4 per cent. The percentages on trade with Western Europe are higher: imports from this area rose by 25 per cent, and exports to Western Europe by 36 per cent. The figures are included in Rusk's yearly report to Congress on the Mutual Defense Assistance Control Act, popularly known as the Battle Act, which provides control over trade with nations "threatening the security of the United States."

Trade with all Communist areas increased in 1966, Rusk reported. "Free World exports" to Eastern Europe, the report said, increased by 18.4 per cent, to Soviet Russia by 0.7 per cent, and to Red China by 14.4 per cent. Total imports from Eastern Europe were 11.2 per cent higher, from the Soviet Union 7.7 per cent, and from Communist China 20.5 per cent. The report listed Yugoslavia and Cuba as "Free World countries."

Despite a substantial increase in 1966—from $140 million to $198 million in exports, and from $141.6 million to $182 million in imports—U.S. trade with the European Communist countries represented less than three-fourth of one per cent of total U.S. foreign trade.

American exports rose to Romania, Poland, East Germany and Czechoslovakia, mainly in agricultural products and machinery. Imports increased from Poland—canned ham, frozen fish and fur skins—and from Czechoslovakia—machinery, pig iron and shoes.

Rusk's report reiterated the administration position on trade with Communist countries by saying that "the U.S. objective is not to continue the cold war but to end it."

The report, however, made it clear that the administration has abandoned hope to get congressional action on its request to get authorization to extend favorable tariff treatment to the Communist countries.

Howard Hughes Maps Future Of Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Gov. Paul Laxalt said Tuesday he and industrialist Howard Hughes are helping put together a private foundation that will plan comprehensively the future of Nevada.

It will reach into every aspect of the lives of the state's citizens—including moral and spiritual education.

Hughes, who in the last year has invested millions in Las Vegas hotel-casinos and other property, assigned one of his key executives—John Meier—to the idea, Laxalt so far has named three members of a five-man board of trustees, including Meier.

Meier said the idea of the foundation was his, adding that Bob Robertson, a Laxalt aide, is the key administration man in the planning.

"Hughes hopefully would be one of the first contributors," said Laxalt. Meier declined comment on this subject.

Robertson said the idea is unique in government because it may combine a proposed state planning agency with a nonprofit corporation to receive donations and make studies.

Proposed surveys range through preventative medical health, nutritional inadequacies, public relief and poverty, moral and spiritual education to industrial development, including the gambling-tourist industry.

Laxalt conceives of a new state agency to learn more of federal and existing state programs. Several states now have similar agencies, of course. But once the Nevada agency determines where the state is losing out in federal dollars and which areas it needs help in studying, the governor would tell the foundation which surveys to conduct.

The proposed state agency, which would have to be approved by the legislature, would be called CEDA for Comprehensive Environmental Development Agency. Its staff would report to the governor.

Deputies said an investigation is being made to determine how the men got out of their first-floor cells.

Calaway said the passageway through which the prisoners escaped is to be closed off with welded metal plates in the remodeling of the 100-year-old jail. Workers on the project had not covered the opening at the boiler room, apparently thinking it was too small for anyone to escape through it, he added.

"I don't see how they did it," Calaway said of the escapees. "One of them (Robinson) weighs nearly 200 pounds. I don't think I could get through there, and I weigh considerably less."

Wilson Wins Approval Of Immigrant Restrictions

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government bill to clamp restrictions on a flood of Asian immigrants from East Africa won approval by a wide majority in a House of Commons vote Tuesday night.

Despite emotional protests by members of all three main political parties over the measure, the vote was 372 to 62 on the second reading of the immigration bill.

As the House debated the measure in London, African police broke up an unruly crowd of Kenya Asians gathered at Nairobi Airport to bid farewell to relatives flying off to Britain.

Several aircraft were leaving Tuesday night carrying hundreds of Asians to Britain in time to beat the new immigration quota restrictions expected to be imposed Thursday.

The new legislation, although it still has to go to committee for study and a third reading, is virtually certain of becoming law.

With Asians arriving at London Airport from Kenya in an increasing flow of hundreds a day, Wilson stepped in and introduced the new law which seeks to stem the flow to 1,500 a year.

The decision, termed too harsh by some leftwingers and liberals, brought a stream of protests.

The Asians coming in were holders of British passports granted when Kenya became independent from British rule.

The bill enables the government to set a yearly immigration quota of 1,500 for British citizens who were not born in Britain and whose parents, though citizens, were not either. Critics say the proposal has the effect of distinguishing between white and nonwhite holders of British passports.

Thousands of Asian residents of Kenya have fled the former British colony because its government, pressing an Africanization program, has denied them work and business permits.

With passage at a second reading, the bill will have to clear the routine third reading vote, the House of Lords and then receive royal assent before becoming law. Labor leaders said they could push this through by Thursday.

The other man, about 5-foot-6 and weighing around 140, jumped over the tellers' partition and took $790 from the cash drawers, bank officials said.

The pair then approached the bank vault, which was open but barred by a wire door. Two employees inside the vault told the bandits they couldn't open the door.

The bandits then fled through the back door. They went across the parking lot, up an embankment and down a alley. Witnesses said they believe they drove away in a red car.

Court Reform Proposal May Go to Voters in 1969

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Constitutional Convention, just days away from its deadline, voted Tuesday to move a contested court reform proposal into position for final passage.

The way had been cleared by advancing the proposal by adoption of a compromise agreement on judicial selection at a marathon session that extended into the early hours of Tuesday morning.

The agreement would permit the convention to decide in the 1969 Primary Election whether they want to continue the present system of electing state judges, use a so-called merit selection plan.

Despite the compromise, unanimity was far from complete on the over-all judicial reform plan.

Former State Sen. Robert P. Casey of Lackawanna County, convention first vice president, argued that the proposal should be held up until several points of contention have been resolved.

Casey, who has been critical of the proposal's treatment of the minor judiciary, scored a provision that would permit magistrates rather than legally trained judges to man Philadelphia's traffic court.

"This is not a system we should recommend to the people of Philadelphia," Casey said. "It is a system that all available evidence indicates the people do not want."

"I have been told that it is too late to do anything about it. Well, it is not too late. We have until midnight Thursday. I think we can do a lot better than this proposal as it now stands. I will continue to fight for the best judicial proposal possible."

Despite Casey's plea, delegates voted 126-23 to advance the proposal to third reading. That means it could be approved finally at Wednesday's session. However, the proposal could still be amended if a majority of delegates agree to accept an amendment before final passage.

At the outset of Tuesday's session, delegates were visibly disturbed when delegate Charlotte M. Fawcett proposed that they adopt the original Judiciary Committee proposal in the form it was submitted to the floor eight days and nearly 100 amendments ago.

"We have debated this until there is nothing left to debate," Mrs. Fawcett said.

Mrs. Fawcett withdrew her suggestion after several delegates complained loudly that adoption of the original plan would destroy week's of work. "I will withdraw my motion," Mrs. Fawcett said, "but I hope I have shaken everyone up and they will now be ready to compromise and pass this proposal."

In addition to the judiciary article, the convention must give final approval to proposals on the state budget and tax exemptions before it completes its work.

Attempts were expected to be made to amend both the budget and tax exemption proposals before final passage.

Burglars Steal TV Sets, Truck

ERIE—Burglars carried away $5,000 worth of television sets in a $15,000 service truck from the General Tire Co. here, Det. Capt. Mario S. Bagnoni said the thieves entered the building sometime between 9:30 p.m. and 4:30 a.m., by removing a roof vent. They lowered themselves into the building, loaded the sets onto the fire service truck and drove away.

Bagnoni said the truck is an all-white 1968 Ford with a boom attached to tow vehicles. The name "General Tire" is painted on the side of the truck. The vehicle has Pennsylvania plates with the number T7282H. Detectives were at the scene Tuesday morning combing the building for evidence.

Party Asked to Review Endorsement of Clark

HARRISBURG (AP) — Democratic State Chairman Thomas Z. Minehart was asked Tuesday to have the party's state committee reconsider its endorsement of U. S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark's re-election bid to a third term.

The request was made in a statement by state Rep. William J. Lederer, D-Philadelphia, in light of Clark's primary contest with U. S. Rep. John H. Dent, D-Westmoreland.

Lederer said the state committee should review its endorsement of Clark since it had no way of knowing a month ago that the incumbent would be challenged by Dent.

Minehart said he had not been contacted by Lederer, but indicated that such a review was unlikely.

"It's never happened before and it's not likely to happen now," Minehart said.

Lederer is one of three candidates challenging the re-election bid in the April primary of incumbent Democratic U.S. Rep. James A. Byrne in Philadelphia's 3rd District. Lederer has also filed for renomination to the state House in his 180th district.

Lederer said he submitted his suggestion in light of Clark's repeated opposition to President Johnson's hard line policy in Vietnam.

"It is apparent that Congressman Dent was motivated to contest ... Clark because the congressman does not believe that Sen. Clark deserves endorsement of party leaders because of his failure to support the President in this vital area of foreign affairs," Lederer maintained.

Dent, who also has filed for renomination to a seventh term in the U. S. House, said he was fighting Clark because of the senator's difference with Johnson on Vietnam. Dent said he supports the Johnson policy.

Lederer also urged Minehart to arrange a face-to-face confrontation between Clark and Dent to air their views before news reporters.

School Officials Outline Needs: More Money!

PITTSBURGH (AP) — School officials paraded before a committee of state lawmakers Tuesday and outlined their needs. It narrowed down to one thing—more money.

Two suggested an income tax to get it.

They came from big school districts and small ones, from public schools and private schools. All told a story of rising costs and limited funds.

Spokesmen for the Roman Catholic parochial schools painted the darkest picture. Unless state financial help is on the way, they said, it may be necessary to close their schools.

Several school officials recommended a state income tax to pay the increasing cost of education. William H. Rea of the Pittsburgh school board said a broad based tax is needed and pointed out that a governor's tax committee recommended an income tax last year.

Dr. Ralph F. Castafiero, superintendent of the Canon-McMillan School District in Washington County, said an income tax would be better than more increases in real estate taxes.

"Real estate tax increases," he said, "discourage home ownership and discourage industry."

Many of the educators asked that school districts be allowed to hike their wage tax to one per cent. The present ceiling is 1/2 per cent.

Dr. Sidney P. Marland Jr., superintendent of Pittsburgh schools, was the first witness to testify before the House Basic Education Committee at the last of a series of hearings across the state.

"It's like a balancing act on a very high wire," is the way he described the budgeting of funds for big city schools.

Marland asked that large cities be given a bigger share of state school money.

"It is the urban districts," he said, "who desperately need a larger percentage of the total tax effort. . . . We ask your very earnest consideration of special funding for the unique problems in Pennsylvania's big cities. We have a very long way to go. We have the heart for it. We need the muscle."

Clayton A. Sweeney, a lay member of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic Diocese school board, said "The issue of aid to non-public schools is not now, nor has it ever been, a religious one." He said parochial schools are public institutions because they perform a public service.

"In the absence of some substantial financial remuneration for public services performed," he said, "it is my considered judgment as a member of the policy-making board that I must recommend the closing of the schools."

Dr. Daniel J. Carr, a layman on the board of the Greensburg Diocese schools, said, "The private schools have been an asset to this country of ours during the some 150 years they have been in existence. It will be a distinct loss to the community if they disappear."

John T. Cicco, deputy superintendent of Pittsburgh's Catholic schools, said closing of the parochial schools would add $22 million a year to the cost of operating the city's public schools.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I do not wish to be an alarmist. I wish merely to emphasize that the nonpublic school problem in this Commonwealth is a serious one."

Philly Has Biggest Volume Of Social Security Checks

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The U.S. Treasury started mailing Tuesday the largest batch of monthly Social Security checks in its history: there'll be 20 million, worth about $2 billion, going to nearly 24 million men, women and children.

The checks, scheduled to be delivered by the mailman on Saturday all over the country, reflect a minimum 13 per cent increase in benefits recently approved by Congress—largest in 32 years.

There are six disbursing offices — Philadelphia, Chicago, Kansas City, San Francisco, Washington and Birmingham, Ala.—but roughly 40 per cent, or 8.3 million, of the checks go out from here.

Because of the heavy volume,

Corry Man Receives Prison Term

MEADVILLE—Stephen Fahey, 22, of Corry on Monday was given a one to two year prison term for his part in an attempted break at County Prison last fall.

Fahey, who admitted to Judge F. Joseph Thomas that he arranged for hacksaw blades to be smuggled to him, was ordered to pay a fine of $10 plus costs and be examined at the Western Diagnostic and Classification Center in Pittsburgh for referral to an institution to serve from one to two years on a charge of aiding a prison breach.

On a charge of burglary and larceny he was given a sentence to begin at the expiration of the previous sentence. He was fined $10 plus costs and given from one to five years in a correctional institution.

Mrs. Sandy Murphy, Corry, his girl friend, who admitted she tied hacksaw blades to a string let down from a county prison window by Fahey, was fined $100 and costs and placed on probation for two years. Mrs. Murphy has already served 35 days in the county jail and had no previous court record.

the post office sends about 200 workers to the treasury building to help in processing the checks and sorting them by states and zip codes.

"We're under constant pressure," Philadelphia Postmaster Anthony I. Lambert said, "because they must go out exactly on time and the beneficiaries are waiting for their arrival. It's what most get to live on for a month."

Philadelphia, because of its volume, got a day's start on the other offices. Kansas City handles 3.8 million Social Security checks, Chicago 3.5 million, San Francisco and Birmingham 2.1 million each, and Washington—mailing only to beneficiaries who live outside the United States—200,000.

The minimum payment to a worker who retired at 65 is now $55, up from the previous $44. The average payment is now $98, increased from $86. A husband - and - wife now average $165, up from $145, while widows get an average of $86, a boost of $11.

About three of every 10 beneficiaries today are under 65, most children of working fathers who died.

James Abbott, the treasury's regional disbursing officer, says the magnetic computer tape provided by the Social Security Administration which certifies payments has virtually eliminated mistakes.

Crash Victim Still In Poor Condition

KANE — Harry Frazer Jr., 41, of Rew, Pa., who escaped from a crash of a gasoline tanker unit near Ludlow early Saturday, remains in "poor condition" from multiple injuries at Kane Community Hospital. It was reported, however, there is some encouragement in his condition.

Frazer was pried out of the telescoped remains of the cab of the vehicle by state police, residents of the Wildcat area and motorists and moved to the hospital in an unconscious condition.

Damage to the tanker was estimated at $35,000.

Five-Point Plan Proposed For State Legislature

HARRISBURG (AP) — A five-point plan aimed at making the legislature a more effective branch of government was offered by the House Democratic leadership Tuesday.

Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, presented the plan during a specially called news conference in the Capitol.

"We are concerned about the quality of our legislative endeavors and the role those endeavors play in making the legislature a true coordinate, effective and responsible branch of government," Fineman said.

The plan outlined the following recommendations: — Establish a yearly calendar calling for adjournment of the legislature by June, although committees and task forces could continue to meet for the remainder of the year.

— Reduce the number of standing committees from 33 to 15, with each committee to have a full-time working staff for both the majority and minority members.

— Create parallel jurisdiction in House and Senate committees to facilitate joint hearings and other joint enterprises.

— Establish committees operating rules to bring about what the leaders referred to as "more democratization of committee procedures."

— Reorganize legislative service agencies under a single head with all positions staffed on a full-time, non-partisan basis.

The plan was offered in response to an earlier proposal by House Republicans that a commission be formed to study ways of modernizing the legislature.

The GOP leadership had expressed concern over the image of the legislature, and Fineman agreed that lawmakers had been subject to much criticism in the wake of the 1967 session.

Fineman said, however, that some of the criticism should have been leveled at Gov. Shafner, who, according to the minority leader, failed to provide adequate executive leadership.

"We remind our Republican friends that reforms will not in themselves improve the public image of the General Assembly, or serve as a substitute for effective leadership," Fineman stated.

Fineman endorsed the commission idea generally and said among its duties should be review of the present $7,200 annual salary paid to lawmakers. He said the salary, despite a yearly $4,800 expense account, was inadequate to attract qualified, full-time legislators.

Nearly all the students in the two OIC centers in North Philadelphia which Humphrey visited were Negroes.

"They said we couldn't do it," Sullivan declared. "These people can do anything anyone else can do and frequently better. Every man and woman knows if they stay here and work they're going to end up with a job."

"That's the best diploma you can get," Humphrey said.

Humphrey walked around shaking hands with the students and signing autographs. At one point, he said, "Say what day is this?"

When told it was Feb. 27, he said, "Gee, that's an important date. It's my daughter's birthday."

He said his daughter, Nancy, was 29, "and I've already taken care of her present."

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have worked with the public for many years and have seen a good deal of tragedy which has resulted from alcoholism. It is clear to me that many wives of alcoholics have personality needs which are fulfilled by their husband's excessive drinking.

Such women (1) want to be martyrs (2) need to be sure of their "special place in heaven" (3) must have something to complain about.

The woman who signed herself "Mystified" sounds as if she fits into all three of the aforementioned categories. When a wife writes to Ann Landers because her husband has stopped drinking and his "self-righteousness is driving her crazy" and she can't understand why he has to keep going to those meetings, it's a pretty good sign she was happier when he was drinking and she was "putting up with him." Now that he is sober she has nothing to talk about, no one is telling her how marvelous she is (in fact, now HE is the marvelous one) and losing the spotlight is more than she can stand. I can guarantee you that if this woman divorces the "dry drunk" she will marry another alcoholic within a year.—SPADES ARE SPADES

Dear Spades: I have read stacks of literature on the personality characteristics of people who marry alcoholics and the authorities concur with your analysis.

There is much truth in your last statement. Surveys show that the majority of women who divorce an alcoholic remarry another alcoholic promptly.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I do babysitting for four or five families. They all pay the same and are pretty nice people. The problem is that one certain woman cancelled me out twice in the last three weeks. Both times she had engaged me several days in advance and I turned down other jobs. Last night she cancelled on the morning of the night I was supposed to sit for her. I don't think this is fair because I turned down two other jobs, yet I don't know what is fair. Do you feel this woman should have paid me anyway? Please advise.—HIGH AND DRY

Dear H and C: In my opinion, a sitter should receive at least 48 hours notice of cancellation or be paid half the usual night's compensation. This understanding should be discussed and agreed upon when the girl accepts her first job with new people.

For girls such as you—girls who are already working and have no such understanding—I suggest that you have a talk with your employers and get such an agreement.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This may sound like a stupid question, but I need your answer. How often do you think a 17-year-old girl should be allowed to date?—A SEVENTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Dear Girl: Before I answer the question I need a little information. These may sound like stupid questions but

What kind of grades is the 17-year-old girl getting? Does she do her share of work around the house? Is the girl honest and reliable? Do her parents know with whom she is going, where she is going and when to expect her home? Does she honor her curfew—or does she try to sneak in late and make some excuse if she is caught?

If you will answer my questions I will answer yours.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin with your request. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Eagles Auxiliary June Convention In Pittsburgh

Ruby Cook presided at the regular meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Ladies Auxiliary recently. It was announced to those present that the State Convention will be held in Pittsburgh on June 13, 14, 15 and 16.

Named to the Ways and Means committee for March and April were Connie Henry, Laura Farnsworth and Margaret Maze. As a unique method of contributing to the March of Dimes, waists were measured, with each member giving a penny per inch according to her measurements. A prize was offered for the largest and smallest donations.

The Auxiliary also raised money for Jack Skaggs, son of member Mary Skaggs, who is hospitalized. It will be used toward meeting his hospital expenses.

The members also voted to do something to aid the Jim Porter family. The Porters recently lost their home through fire. The next Auxiliary meeting will take place on Tuesday, March 5, with the officers meeting on Monday, March 4.

Americans are spending larger portions of their lives in retirement. In 1900 a man averaged only three years in retirement. By 1950 the figure had doubled, to nearly six, and by the year 2000 it is expected to be nearly nine.

The bidding
South West North East
2♥ Pass 3♥ 3♠

Opening lead: Ten of ♠
South was reluctant to permit the fate of his six heart contract to rest solely on a finesse and, in attempting to improve his odds, he uncovered a method that assured him of success.

When South received a positive response to his opening demand bid of two hearts, he was determined to reach a slam. Inasmuch as a prolonged investigation was not apt to produce much additional information he decided not to dally and, after East overcalled with three spades, South proceeded directly to six hearts.

West opened the ten of spades which was covered in turn by dummy's jack, East's queen and declarer's ace.

An examination of the dummy revealed that South must lose a spade trick. The fate of the slam, then, depended on bringing in the diamond suit without casualty. Inasmuch as declarer has a two way finesse for the queen, it appears that he must determine which opponent has the missing honor.

South resolved to postpone his decision until the last possible moment, in favor of a plan that might eliminate guesswork altogether. He first cashed the ace of clubs, followed by the ace of hearts, and then a small heart to North's nine—which drew the adverse trump.

The nine of clubs was led, covered by East's jack and ruffed by South. Another heart to the ten permitted declarer to lead dummy's remaining club—the ten. When East covered with the queen, South did not ruff, however; instead, he discarded the three of spades, placing his opponent on lead.

East was hopelessly end-played. If he returned a club, declarer could ruff in dummy while he discarded a diamond from his hand. If East led back a spade, it would establish North's jack and finally, the return of a diamond removes the guess from that suit.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Some issues and minor matters may irk or disappoint. Remember, they are part of life and can be gracefully taken as "conditioners" if you wisely will.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—On this somewhat mixed day: Don't permit doldrums, neglect duties, dwell on disquieting thoughts. Be prompt, sure-footed and factual. Stress your innate graciousness.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—A tendency to scatter energies prevalent. Concentrate on logically conceived plans. An excellent memory and insatiable curiosity are your gifts to use judiciously: Use them NOW!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—You can make this day a record one! This does not mean that you should overtax yourself. You can accomplish more through continuous, steady application of well-planned effort.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Favorably aspected, this day calls for formation of new plans, revised procedures for the balance of the week and completing all "unfinished business."

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Waste no time in day-dreaming; let thoughts be useful and directed constructively toward the future. Stress your innate dignity and integrity.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Keep your records straight and things should flow smoothly. Thereby you will also be ready for the glaring light of public opinion. Be alert to deception, too!

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Some things may seem to bother more than usual. Don't succumb to annoyance but rather check and look more closely into pertinent matters. And KEEP SMILING!

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Good Jupiter influences favor innovations, advanced methods and tactics. A good period in which to put over unusual ideas.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Keep eyes open for those little "ambushes" that upset a well-running organization, business, personal or home routine. Aim for accomplishment in which you can justifiably take pride.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Allow for some delays, but, by the same token, cut out needless details, non-essentials, generally. A crisp, conscientious procedure intended to top all competition WILL.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Keep things moving in the right direction, and with well-planned design. A "let's wait and see" attitude could, if permitted, stifle enthusiasm on this problematic day. Some reviewing will be sensible, however.

YOU BORN TODAY are idealistic; tend to be scholarly; are never satisfied with insufficient or everyday knowledge; innately honorable. Your personality is engaging; you gather friends and opportunities quickly, but may have only a few close companions. You love things beautiful, colorful, tasteful. Tenacity plus a keen sense of what others want win top success for you even in "hard times." Avoid extremes. Birthdate of: Michel Montaigne, Fr. essayist; Geraldine Farrar, singer.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

BLOOD PRESSURE

MANY persons must pay high premiums or are refused insurance because of high blood pressure. An individual faced with this situation may rush to the family physician for another opinion. His medico is likely to find a lower reading because it is taken in a more relaxed and familiar setting. The insurance examiner usually is a stranger and the applicant is tense.

The practicing physician is more liberal in his concept of what constitutes normal pressure. Systolic readings (pressure in the arteries when the heart contracts) may vary as much as 10 points within two minutes. After resting, it may drop 40 points. Diastolic readings (pressure in arteries between heart beats) change very little.

The systolic level tends to rise with advancing age. In younger people, the normal systolic pressure varies from 100 to 140. After age 60, it usually is from 110 to 170. If these variations would be accepted, millions could forget the higher levels and live again.

The ideal reading, regardless of age, varies between 110 and 130. A 60 year old with a systolic pressure of 120 is less susceptible to vascular disorders than one who pressure is 170. Altho both are within normal limits for this age, the lower is better. A diastolic pressure of 80 is ideal but readings approaching 100 are abnormal.

An elevated level is not so important as what the pressure is doing to the individual. In hypertension, the heart pumps with greater force and the arteries carry blood that is moving under increased pressure. If high blood pressure persists, the overworked circulatory system will break down leading to failure of the heart or kidney, or stroke and heart attack.

To avoid trouble, treatment is available. Drugs and certain surgical procedures help to control hypertension. Complications are less likely to occur and life is prolonged when the reading is maintained at normal levels. TOMORROW: After a Heart Attack.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

PYLOROSPASM

G. P. writes: If a person has pylorospasm, does this mean he has gall bladder disease?

REPLY
The pylorus is the muscular valve at the exit of the stomach. Spasms occur when it is irritated by improper diet, ulcer, or when overstimulated by an emotional upheaval. Reflex pylorospasm may stem from a diseased gall bladder, diverticulitis, or appendicitis, but this condition is rare.

A PITUITARY DISORDER

A reader writes: I am 55 years old and have not gained weight recently, yet my nose has become larger. So have my feet; I went from 6½B to an 8D shoe. The jeweler has had to make my rings bigger. Can you advise me?

REPLY
Examination is in order, because enlargements of this kind often are due to glandular disturbances.

SNORER SLEEPS WELL

P. T. writes: Does a snorer get the proper kind and amount of sleep?

REPLY
Yes, but the same cannot be said of the listener.

still skeptical about A&P brand canned vegetables?

Incredible!

They're all Grade "A", you know, and labeled so.

But you don't know another brand that is.

Grade "A"... that's the best. You can't buy better.

You're still not sure?

Tell you what...

this week, buy a can of A&P Whole Small Green Beans.

Picked at a precise tender age, they are simply delicious.

You think this is just advertising talk?

Try them.

You'll get your money back if you don't think they're the best you ever tasted.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

P.S. If you're not a string bean lover, pick any A&P Brand Canned Vegetable.

As we said, they're all Grade "A"... all absolutely, unconditionally guaranteed.
